THE FRANCO-ITALIAN DIFFICULTY.

PARIS, September 8.—The Journal Des Debates to-day states that the difficulties between the French and Italian Governments are due to the interference of a delegate of the French Legation with the municipal envoys of the Italian Government who were engaged on the work of surveying a Roman convent. It proves that the delegate in question belonged to the Vatican Legation instead of the Italian Court, and a satisfactory settlement of the difficulty is expected.

MUNICH, September 7.—Count Arlia, the Catholic Representative from Bavaria to Rome, to whom the Catholic party in Germany have looked as the champion of their battles in behalf of the Holy See, has been replaced by Count Trauttmansdorff, who is a partisan of Doellinger. This nomination produces a deep feeling of discontent in the Vatican. The new church party accept it as a signal of triumph for their principles. Trauttmansdorff has always been hostile to France, especially during the late troubles.

Delegations were present from every part of the country. Immense enthusiasm was manifested. Some fifty thousand people went in procession to a mound near the city to visit the Kopiec, an ancient memorial of national humiliation. Many Russian authorities regarded the celebration with suspicion. The event is thought to have significance as evidence of an outburst on the part of the people for the independence of Poland.

The result of the post mortem examination showed that Renforth's lungs were engorged with blood, and that his death was caused by over-exertion, combined with great mental excitement. Dr. Jackson, of Boston, testified that no trace of poison could be found in the stomach of the deceased. The verdict of the jury was that Renforth came to his death by congestion of the lungs, caused by over-exertion.

CHICAGO.

Coroner's Inquest.

CHICAGO, September 8.—The Coroner's inquest last evening developed the following facts in relation to the killing of the prisoner in the House of Correction yesterday morning: His name is Michael Wrenn, and his age seventy-six. He has been a vagrant for many years, and for a large part of that time an inmate of the House of Correction. Yesterday morning George Dresser, one of the supernumeraries, signalled the prisoners to come from their cells to go to work. Many of the prisoners, being sick and old, are not required to work, Wrenn being of that number, but he came from his cell with the rest. Dresser saw him, and became angry; he caught him by the coat and pushed him; the old man fell to the floor, rolled under the railing around the walk and fell to the stone flagging, a distance of thirty feet, striking first on his head, badly fracturing his skull and causing his death in two hours. Dresser is in custody. The Coroner's jury has not yet rendered a verdict.

THE HOP CROP.

A special from Madison, Wis., says there is considerable excitement in that section among the hop growers, and as high as fifty cents was offered there yesterday for hops and fifteen to twenty cents paid for last year's growth. The quality this year is pronounced first rate, better than for several years, but the quantity, however, is small, being estimated at only 5,000 bales.

PHILADELPHIA, September 8.—Kane O'Donnell, a well known journalist, and formerly of the New York Tribune, died this morning in this city.

WHOLESALE POISONING.

One day last week a large private party of citizens made a steamboat excursion down the bay from Wilmington. The next day nearly the whole party suffered from a serious illness, the symptoms being those of poisoning, and in several families one or more members are now very sick. One peculiar feature is that after the victim seems to have been entirely relieved, the symptoms return with the same severity as at first. One physician is reported to have forty of these cases under treatment.

WHEREAS, In the Order of the Sons of Temperance, under the jurisdiction of the National Division, we know no distinction of race, color or former condition, but all are alike equal before the law, therefore,

Resolved, That in our future action we do not deem it expedient to organize separate lodges in the same territory on account of the above named distinctions.

KENTUCKY.

Railway Collision.

LOUISVILLE, September 8.—There was an accident to the Louisville and Nashville trains to-night at Randolph station, seven miles from this city. This is the regular meeting place of the trains southbound. The passenger train ran into the next to the rear coach of the train from Memphis and Nashville as it was running into the side track, wrecking the last two cars of the latter. One person was killed and several badly injured, two of whom will die before morning. Their names are Mr. Buchan, from Ashville, North Carolina, and Dr. James Thomas, from Rome, Georgia. Mr. Griffith, of the Nashville Union and American, is also slightly injured. Surgeons were promptly ordered to the scene by the company, and every care taken of the wounded.

CORONER'S JURY.

The Coroner summoned a jury to-day in the case of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad accident last night, but after swearing in the jurors, adjourned till to-morrow. It is said the accident was caused by the engineer of the south-bound train, which ran into the cars of the other train before they got to the switch, not stopping his train in time when he reached the station. It is also said that he whistled "down brakes" and reversed the engine sooner than usual, but the engine was new and an unusually large and heavy one, which he ran for the first time, and the momentum carried the train considerably beyond the point which it would have passed under ordinary circumstances.

BOY RUN OVER.

This morning Johnny O'Herr, a boy about twelve years old, in attempting to pass between two moving trains on the Short Line track at the head of the market, was run over by one of them and his right leg crushed, rendering amputation necessary. He is not expected to recover.

NEW RAILWAY.

A project is on foot for building a narrow gauge railway from Paducah, Ky., to Paris, Tenn., and is received with much favor along the line of the proposed route.

THE FALL RACES.

LEXINGTON, September 8.—The fall races on the Kentucky Association Course at this place will commence on Monday next, September 11, under the most favorable auspices. There are more horses now at the track than have ever been for many a year. General Buffard and John Harper arrived here yesterday with their stables, among which are the renowned racers Enquirer, Salina, Nellie Gray, Hollywood, Bombshell, Longfellow, Exchange Little Girl, and Platian. Among the other noted animals are Bayonet, Foster, Vortegeon, Rival, Saucebox, Ginger, Morgan, Scout, Pilgrim, Stockwook, Billy Williams, Ella Jackson, Mollie Code, Bigaron, London, and a host of others, making in all upwards of seventy-five animals. The oldest attendants at the course say that such an array of thoroughbreds has never before been assembled on this long established and time honored course. Longfellow is himself again, and the fact of his being caught off in the four mile dash at Saratoga has made Mr. Harper more careful that he shall be in the best condition for next week, when he expects to prove that his friends will have no cause to slacken their admiration of him. The stakes have all closed well, and it is predicted that the entries for the purses will be greater than ever hereafter.

SCIENTIFIC.

[From the N. Y. Ledger.]

At the recent dinner of the Royal Literary Fund, Dr. Richardson, in his reply to the toast of "Writers on Science," said, "Every reading man and woman knows that in the reign of Queen Elizabeth the book of Shakespeare's plays had its origin, and nearly every one who has read the book remembers the curious saying in it, 'I'll put a girdle around the world in forty minutes.' But how many are there who have read another great book of that same reign, entitled 'De Magnete;' or are aware that at the time when Shakespeare was writing his now familiar phrase, the author of the book on the magnet, the Queen's physician, one William Gilbert, when his daily toils of waiting upon the sick were over, was working with his smith in his laboratory at his furnace, needle and compass, was writing up for the first time the word 'Electricity,' and was actually forging the beginnings of the very instruments that now, in less than forty seconds, put a girdle round the globe?"

LIGNITE, a substance similar to coal, but of later origin, and consequently found in beds above true coal, is used as fuel in some parts of New Zealand. Lady Barker, who has lately returned from a residence in that country, says that it was used in her household there. She describes it as a better sort of turf, which smoulders in the same way, and will remain alight for many hours, if undisturbed. The addition of a dry log or two is necessary in order to make it blaze. It has to be taken from the pit in small quantities, as a comparatively short exposure to the atmosphere causes it to crumble into dust.

THE question whether the Aurora Borealis is ever visible by daylight has been discussed with considerable animation in England for some time past, the negative contestants asserting that the so-called daylight auroras have in every instance been due to cloud formations, or some like cause. The dispute may now probably be considered as finally settled, for a writer in Nature states that he lately had a conversation with a distinguished magnetician and Arctic explorer, who said that he had often seen the Aurora in broad daylight in the polar regions, and always of a crimson hue.

SLEEPING with the face exposed to the rays of the moon is, by many persons, supposed to be productive of blindness. The real danger, however, in such cases is, that the radiation which takes place from the eyes under the circumstances may occasion a chill, followed by inflammation. Prof. Tyndall, who is a very distinguished and successful Alpine climber, tells us that on one of his mountain trips, when compelled to lie in the moonlight, his face became so chilled that he was forced to cover it with a handkerchief for protection.

GIGANTIC centipedes, or millipedes, half an inch thick and eight to ten inches long, are found about the paths and on the trees in many parts of the East Indian Island of Celebes. Mr. Wallace, during his residence there, found one in his bed one morning. They are of a brick-red or a dull lead color, and although very repulsive, are quite harmless. The bite of some species of centipedes is said to be more painful than even that of the scorpion, but it is never fatal.

THE great earthquake of 1835, in Chile, was accounted for by Mr. Darwin, who was in that country when it occurred, on the hypothesis of the existence of a subterranean bed of lava equal in extent to the Black Sea. Fresh discussion of this view has been inaugurated by the recent Chilean earthquake. A German professor named Falb has a theory that the chief cause of earthquakes is the influence of the moon, but his prophecies based upon it have not proved true.

AN amusing story is told of Dr. Leech, in connection with the names selected by him for several previously undesignated species of land shells. He is said to have picked the words at random out of a Greek dictionary, written on slips of paper, and then to have put them into a hat, from which a friend was asked to draw them. As each name was called, it was arbitrarily applied to the first species which was thought of as being in want of one.

UNMISTAKABLE traces of an ancient glacier have been discovered in the Atlas mountain range, Northwestern Africa, by Dr. Hooker's party. They find no perpetual snow, in the proper sense of the expression, as applied to the summits; but snow lies all the year in many of the deep gullies on the northern slope.

THE number of species of insects in Asia is quite small in proportion to the extent of that continent; and North America, in corresponding latitudes, has fewer specimens than Europe. Brazil boasts of a greater variety than any other county on the globe.

NORTHEASTERN Siberia is probably poorer in animals and plants than any other region of equal area on the globe, except such as are covered with eternal snow.

WASHINGTON, September 8, 1871.

RECRUITS.

The Superintendent of the General Recruiting Service of the Western Division has been ordered to send two hundred recruits to Omaha for assignment to the Thirteenth Infantry, and fifty to Fort Leavenworth for assignment to the Third Infantry.

THE WEATHER.

The barometer continues low on the Pacific coast; has fallen decidedly from Nebraska to Lake Huron and northward. An area of low barometer probably exists north of Wisconsin. The highest pressure, which was central in Michigan, has moved steadily southeastward, and is now over New Jersey. The centre of disturbance on the Georgia coast has moved to the east and northeast, and clouds with northeast winds prevail on the south Atlantic coast. The cloudy and threatening weather has generally cleared away in the Southern States. Clear weather with northerly winds and a falling temperature have continued in the Middle, Eastern and Gulf States. Southerly winds with increasing cloudiness are reported from Missouri to Lake Superior.

Probabilities.—Brisk southerly winds will probably continue on the upper lakes to-night, with cloudy and threatening weather, but little or no rain; clear weather with southerly winds for the Gulf States, followed by cloudy weather on Saturday, and clear and pleasant weather for the Middle and Eastern States.

BAWDY HOUSES.

The Judge of the Police Court, Superintendent of Police, and the District Attorney, at a conference to-day, determined to break up all bawdy and disorderly houses, after giving the proprietors or reputed proprietors notice requiring them to cease their business, under penalty of arrest and prosecution.

POSTMASTERS APPOINTED.

The President has appointed the following named postmasters: J. W. Patterson, Humboldt, Kansas; Wm. Welton, Iowa Falls, Iowa; E. N. McAllister, Champaign, Illinois, and J. H. Taylor, Bozeman, Montana.

GRAND VIZIER OF TURKEY.

An official dispatch from Constantinople says that Mahmond Pacha has been appointed Grand Vizier, to succeed Ali Pacha. He was formerly Governor of Smyrna, but recently Secretary of the Navy.

RETURNED.

Blacque Bey, the Turkish Minister, has returned with his family to Washington, after an absence of seventeen months in his own country.

PERSONAL.

Admiral Lee, commanding the Gulf squadron, arrived here to-day.

Secretary Robeson left Washington this morning for Portsmouth, N. H.

CINCINNATI.

The Industrial Exhibition.

CINCINNATI, September 8.—Though the Industrial Exposition is by no means what it will become by the first of the approaching week, and a general understanding that it will be a number of days before it will present its best appearance, the attendance to-day was about six thousand, double that of what it was the corresponding period last year. Considerable machinery is in operation to-day, but a satisfactory visit to the power hall cannot be made before next Monday or Tuesday. As the arrangement becomes complete, the superiority of the display becomes more and more apparent. This is specially seen in the articles of domestic use. The show in fine China is not extensive. In silverware there is a splendid display, and in drugs and chemicals manufacturers appear to have made unusual preparations. Three exhibitors in this department from Philadelphia and one from St. Louis make splendid exhibitions. The carriage department is full to repletion, and Agricultural Hall is so crowded that a roof will be erected over the alley on the south of the buildings, and this space will be used to relieve the pressure in this department. Among the display in soaps, Buffalo takes a prominent part, while Dayton, Ohio, is prominent as an exhibitor in cut tobacco.

PATENT DECISION.

The suit of Wm. Blakency against the Leffel estate, to enforce a contract by which he claims a half interest in the patent "Leffel Turbine Water Wheel," was decided to-day at Springfield, Ohio, in the District Court, in favor of Leffel and Tate. The court sustained the demurrer of the defendants on the ground that the statute of the United States requires all transfers of patents to be made in writing. The suit involved a large amount of money.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

James Clary, while drunk, this evening, at the foot of Ninth street, threw a brick at John Hillman, missing the object, but hitting a laborer, John Martin, working in a cellar, breaking his skull and producing death in four hours.

AGREEMENT SIGNED.

The agreement between the creditors of the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette Railway for an ajustment of the debt and a reorganization of the company has been signed by two-thirds of the parties in interest, and becomes valid.

BRANCH BANK WITHDRAWN.

The Covington branch of the Farmers Bank of Kentucky is withdrawn, and its business transfered to the Covington City National Bank.

TENNESSEE.

Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad.

CHATTANOOGA, September 8.—Chancellor Key to day, in an application of the attorney for the State of Alabama, gave a fiat turning the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad and the rolling stock in Tennessee over to John H. Gindrat, Receiver, as Receiver of the Court. In his decision he stated that if the property of the road in charge of the Receiver in another State was attached within his jurisdiction, he would release the property, and he expected a like amity and comity from the Courts of other States. Gindrat gave bonds, signed by Governor Lindsay, of Alabama, in $300,000, and is now in possession of the road, rolling stock, machine shop and depots of the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad in Tennessee. The only obstacles now to the running of the road are the attachments in Dade county, Ga. An application for a receiver, similar to that just decided, will be heard by Judge Parrot at Trenton, Ga., on September 19, and will undoubtedly be decided in a similar manner, and trains may be expected to run on the road by September 20. The greatest satisfaction prevails at the prospect of the running of the road. It will be perfectly safe for the State to run the road, as all parties are anxious to enjoy its benefit.

MINNESOTA.

Fair.

MINNEAPOLIS, September 8.—The extensive preparations that are being made by the Agricultural and Mechanical Association of this city for the coming great fair are nearly completed, and the grounds and buildings present a splendid appearance. Every inch of space in the various large buildings is applied for by exhibitors and an immense barn and a great number of stalls for cattle are being rapidly filled. Three car loads of thoroughbred stock arrived to-day, among which is the herd of E. Brockway, of Wisconsin, and large numbers of fine thoroughbred colts and young horses of James Wadsworth, of Waukegan, Illinois. The great trotters Goldsmith Maid, Hotspur and Western Girl, will reach here to-morrow. The fair promises to be one of the greatest successes ever witnessed in such exhibitions.

NEW YORK, September 8, 1871.

THE MUNICIPAL FRAUDS.

The excitement in regard to the suit commenced against the city officials continues to-day. There is a great deal of speculation as to whether Judge Barnard will make the injunction perpetual, when the case is brought up for argument on Monday. There is a probability that before that time strong influences will be brought to bear upon the Judge; but it is believed he will remain firm against these arguments, and render a decision in accordance with what seems to be the popular will.

The World to-day, editorially speaking of the Barnard injunction, says: It is to be remembered that the proceedings before the court were ex parte, the plaintiff alone having been heard in the application, and that the injunction holds only until Monday, when the defendants will be allowed a hearing and be permitted to show cause why the injunction should not be made perpetual.

The Tribune this morning says that Judge Barnard's action in granting a preliminary injunction against Controller Connelly is not wholly unexpected. Tammany is becoming more dangerous as a friend than an enemy, and the cry of its old supporters is getting to be, "Stand from under." The honest creditors of the city may suffer, because Controller Connolly has already spent the city's money in paying unjust claims. We believe the validity of ten or twelve millions of dollars' worth of outstanding bonds depends on the issues of these injunction suits.

Mayor Hall, in an interview yesterday, said that the granting of this injunction was one of Judge Barnard's stereotyped jokes, because all the bonds authorized, excepting those for the Viaduct Railroad and Croton Lake improvements, have already been issued. The assault will be met next Monday by the corporation counsel, O'Gorman, and other able lawyers, who shall send a joint committee on Monday to examine the Controller's monthly statement of the condition of the county debt, together with its history.

The object of the recent visit of Jones and O'Brien to Long Branch was to represent the municipal government in such a state of chaos as to lay the foundation for calling upon the general Government to interfere and appoint a provisional Mayor. Mayor Hall asserts it as his intention to fill out his present term of office and run again, and let the people pass judgment on his administration.

The Herald, which has heretofore had but little to say on the Tammany frauds, in an editorial leader to day thinks that the attacks of the press upon the city officials are founded on personal spite, disappointment and party business motives. It thinks that all the parties who have held sway in the city in the past year have been guilty of plunder, and that the present power of Tammany was attained through the co-operation of Republicans. It asks for the resignation of Tweed and Connolly. It says that a crisis has come on the city affairs in the history of Tammany which cannot be bridged over by expedients and which the influence of party organizations cannot avert, and that an organization of the political elements is demanded by the situation.

There are reports that the Citizens' Committee of seventy will lay their plans against the city authorities before the United States Court, in case there is a dissolution of the injuction of Judge Barnard on Monday next.

The action of the Citizens' Committee of seventy, in excluding reporters from its meetings, is received with dissatisfaction. It is thought that the investigation of what is believed to be secret frauds should have no secrecy about its own proceedings.

POLITICAL.

The New Jersey Republican Convention adopted rsolutions renewing their pledge of fidelity to the Republican party; endorsing the Fifteenth Amendment as just in theory and enobling in practice, and opposing the attempt to blot it from the record of the country's progress; declaring the Republican party pledged to economy in the expenditure of public money; to good faith in the payment of the debt; to a careful fostering of all branches of trade and industry; to wholesome laws; to a pure and learned judiciary and an upright administration of government, both State and National; supporting Grant's administration in the warmest terms; and declaring in favor of such reform of civil service as shall make the appointment to public office dependent on fitness and character, and allow removals for cause only.

The decision of the Court of Appeals, referred to yesterday, it is thought, will necessitate a new choice at the coming fall, elections for Controller, Aldermen, Corporation Counsel and other officials of minor consequence. The parties affected by the decision are commencing to get ready for the situation.

Some of the Tammany aspirants for office to be voted for in the fall are already beginning to experience trouble. In the Sixth ward Thomas J. Creamer appears to have presumed that the prom se of his nomination for Senator by the Tammany leaders would, as a matter of course, secure his election, but it is now found that the strength of the opposing candidates leaves his chances in some doubt.

SERIOUS RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

Six stock cars with caboose attached, containing six men, were left on the main track of the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Railroad, at Bridgeville, on Wednesday, near the summit of a heavy grade. While the locomotive took the coal cars forward, a brakeman was left in charge of the stock cars. He loosened the brakes after the locomotive had left, and deserted his post. The cars began to move backward toward Mauch Chunk and passed through the tunnel. At this station it ran with full force into a loaded coal train. The caboose was shivered to splinters, and the coal and cattle cars piled on one another. The occupants of the caboose, all cattle dealers, were killed outright, and the others seriously injured. The names of the killed are J mes Booth and Mr. Goodrich of Condor. New York, and Hiram M. Case, of Flemington, New Jersey.

NAIL AND SPIKE MANUFACTURERS.

An important and general meeting of the nail and spike manufacturers of the United States was held at Philadelphia yesterday. From one of the New York delegates the following particulars have been obtained: A proposition was made and unanimously adopted on the opening of the meeting to advance the wholesale prices of all sizes of American nails and spikes twenty-five per cent. per hundred weight; on sales of from 200 to 1,000 kegs a reduction of ten per cent. is to be made, and on all upwards of 1,000 fifteen per cent. per hundred weight. On all nails south of Baltimore no limit to prices were established, and the manufacturers are at liberty to establish their own prices.

VERDICT RENDERED.

The inquest in the case of Emily A. Post was brought to a close to-day. The jury rendered the following verdict: We find that the death of Emily A. Post was superinduced by brutal and inhuman treatment, received at the hands of Dr. Perry and Madame Van Buskirk, and we find that P. K. Post, Sr., Minerva Post and P. K. Post, Jr., in placing their daughter and sister in the care of known mal-practitioners, were guilty of an unnatural outrage, and evincing depraved minds utterly regardless of natural duty. The father, mother and brother of Miss Post have been held to answer by the Coroner.

THE COLD SPRINGS RACE.

The Sun of to-day discredits the time made by Goldsmith Maid at Milwaukee, and says that the story was received in this city yesterday with very general incredulity, and $10,000 to $50,000 that Goldsmith Maid could not come here and repeat the time was offered, with no takers. It adds "If Goldsmith Maid can go in 2:17 or 2:17¼, or very near to either of these figures, let her come to the vicinity of New York, where she can be seen and accurately timed, and do it."

Eighteen Months Without Food.

"A very peculiar case," says the London Times, "which has baffled several doctors, and which in a strange manner shows how life can be prolonged without anything in the shape of ordinary nutrition, has just come to light at a place near Preston. In the fold of Ennell-lane, which closely adjoins the village of Walton-le-Dale, and which is about a mile and a half from Preston, there is a cottage wherein for three years a young woman has been lying bed-ridden, and for between one and two years has had nothing to eat. Her name is Ann Riding. She is thirty-three years of age, and resides with her aunt. Prior to being taken ill she was a strong, healthy woman, never losing a day's work, and was employed as an operative at the mill of Messrs. Horrocks, Miller & Co., Preston. Shortly after sickness set in she left work, was compelled to take to her bed, was medically attended, and for three years had been gradually sinking. Several doctors have at times attended her, but none of them have been able to give her any substantial relief, and six months ago remedial operations were abandoned, and the case left to itself, the idea of the aunt being that the 'Almighty had to do with it,' and that it was useless continuing to incur expenses for medicines without any hope of a cure. For sixteen months the young woman has had no food at all, the only thing she could bear being a drop of water to moisten her lips. She is frequently asked if she will not have food, but always refuses it—she has no desire for it, and how she has for such a long period existed without anything possessing the least affinity to meat is a mystery. She is conscious, but very weak, gets little sleep, and cannot bear a lighted candle in the room at night time. It is supposed that she is suffering from abdominal atrophy, but the exact nature of the case is not positively understood, and it puzzles every one who is made acquainted with it, and especially when it is recollected that for a year and four months she has not had as much meat and drink as would have been requisite to sustain an infant a single day. The relatives in charge of the young woman are humble, honest people, and make no 'show' of the case, which is hardly known in the district."

A Man who was Unequal to the Role of Elijah.

The Alexandria (Va.) Gazette tells this story: "A man named George Troupe has just made as decided a failure in an attempt to play the part of Elijah as was ever made before. Thirteen days ago, when Mr. James Atkinson opened his wheelright shop, he told Troupe, who had been living with him for the last twenty years, that he wanted him to go to work again; but Troupe responded that he had promised the Lord not to work for man any more, and that the Lord had promised to provide for him; and, dressing himself in the clothes he usually wore on Sunday, he bid Mr. Atkinson's family good-by, and walked away, taking with him, however, nothing except the clothes upon his person. From this time nothing was heard from him until late yesterday evening, when a grave digger named Waddey informed Mr. Atkinson that he had found him lying in the Presbyterian burying-ground, starved almost to death, and so weak that he could not crawl to the spring. Mr. A. at once went to his relief and brought him back again to his house, and under the kind and attentive treatment he is receiving there he will probably recover his strength. He had been where he was found for the last twelve days, during which time he had eaten two peaches and a pear, but the crows, though they flew over him regularly every morning and evening, never once brought him any bread or flesh.

WESTERN crimes are happily less frequent than atrocious. Almost a parallel to the hideous O'Meara atrocity occurred near Raritan, Ill. Two wretches, while the family were at church, visited the house of a prosperous farmer, and finding only a lad at home, demanded all the money in the house. The boy knew of but $1.50, which did not satisfy the robbers, of course, and they threatened him with death if more was not forthcoming. The lad opened a bureau drawer, and snatching a pistol, intrepidly leveled it at the bandits, ordering them to leave. They dashed toward him, and he resolutely fired at the nearest man, missing him; the villain returned the shot, killing the lad instantly. The murderers have so far escaped.

THE suit which Mrs. Laura D. Fair's counsel brought against her for their fees, to the amount of $2,100, has been settled out of court.

BY MAIL FROM ABROAD.

ON the 23d of May the cigar seller of Rue de l'Ecole printed with a pen, "Closed on account of death," on a sheet of foolscap, in order to preserve his shop from pillage and fire. As soon as the ink was dry he took a paste brush and posted it on his door. He was about to re-enter the shop when a ball killed him.

THE North Wales Chronicle treats its readers to a fisherman's adventure. Fishing at Llanrwst, so the story runs, a Leamington gentleman landed a salmon weighing 22½ pounds, and had it conveyed to his hotel with the intention of dining on one half of it. On the salmon being opened it was discovered he had gorged an eel, weighing about 2½ pounds. The eel was dissected and a 1½ pound trout was brought to light. The trout was cut open and inside were found eight minnows, making the total catch of ten fish. The search was not further pursued.

A POOR woman named Lalanne, of Eparras village, Upper Pyrenees County, France, hearing that her son, a private in an artillery regiment, made prisoner in Sedan, had fallen ill at Custrine, Prussia, determined to go to see him, and, if possible, bring him home. She set out on foot, and despite fatigue and trials of all sorts, she succeeded in reaching her child and bringing him back with her. Her neighbors could not easily express the admiration and sympathy felt for her. The Minister of War, upon hearing of these circumstances, gave a furlough to her son and sent her money enough to procure medical assistance and medicines for her son.

The following was offered by Alex. Clark and H. C. Stuart, and passed by a unanimous vote:

WHEREAS, In the cities and towns of this country, a large and growing German population is making permanent settlement, and

WHEREAS, This race of people owing to recent political and ecclestiastical issues in Europe, are inclined more than ever toward a Republican form of goverment in church affairs. Therefore Resolved—1. That we recommend pastors and other friends of New Testament Christianity throughout this district to encourage young men of German birth and associations to enter the ministry of the Methodist Church, with a view to reach by its national tongue and customs this important class of people.

Resolved—2. That we commend this interest to the attention of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church.

Pastoral reports were resumed.

Dr. P. T. Laishly was superannuated on account of ill-health and advanced age. Dr. George Brown reported and was continued in the superannuated relation—The old veteran.

The following was offered and passed:—Whereas, It is found impracticable to examine into the regular work of the ministry and membership of this conference during the sittings of this body; and, Whereas, The day has come when competent workmen are demanded to keep up with the progressing spirit and educational advantages of the age, therefore:

Resolved—1. That there be a standing committee appointed whose business it shall be to examine applicants for admission into the Itinerancy, said committee to meet at the call of its chairman, and recommend acceptable candidates to the action of the succeeding annual conference.

Resolved 2d, That said Committee be instructed to meet two days before its regular sittings and make all the regular examination prior to the opening of the annual session, also, to draft a systematic plan, based on the Book of Discipline for the government of such examination, and thus directly aid candidates, and expedite the work of the Conference. The above Committee takes the place of the Committee on Itinerancy and Orders.

Dr. J. Scott offered the following which was adopted:

Resolved, That we commend to the favorable consideration of the ministers of our church the claims of "The Clergy Mutual League," located at Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Adjourned after prayer.

Accepted. Arthur S. Brown and Jno. F. Dyer were recommended for Itinerancy. Accepted. Several visitors were introduced, and as usual courtesies extended. Among these were fraternal delegates from Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church. Voted to hear them at 3 P. M.

The Cement has acquired the reputation as the first in the country in hydraulic strength and uniform reliability.
It is now in general use from the lakes to the Gulf, most of the public works in the West and South being constructed with it.
The mills at Louisville having been enlarged and improved, can supply any demand, and though the Cement has always, for 30 years brought higher prices than competing brands, it is from this time the determination of the manufacturers, in order to largely increase the sale and extend the use of their Cement, to furnish it in the principal markets at prices which make it the most available and economical for all classes of work.
The large capacity of this Cement for taking sand renders it much the cheapest that can be used for buildings of any kind.
At the reduced prices in Pittsburgh its cost is not much above common lime, which makes it unquestionably to the interest of owners and builders that the foundation of every good house should be laid in this Cement.
A large stock of fresh Cement has just been received by barges from Louisville, and is offered at greatly reduced prices by the following dealers:

THE Republicans of Lehigh county have nominated Reuben A. Boyer and J. B. Mauser, as their candidates for Assembly. The Republicans of Lehigh will poll a good vote this fall.

THE SALZBURG CONFERENCE is now being held. Emperor William in person, accompanied by Bismarck, representing Germany, and Francis Joseph, Austria. The world awaits the result with some anxiety.

THE Republican committee of England has issued the programme of principles decided upon. It takes the most advanced positions and from this time on, the party will continue to grow. Revolutions of this kind never go backward.

W. H. H. RIDDLE, Esq., has been appointed Assistant Assessor for Butler county vice Hon. John H. Negley, resigned. His editorial duties as editor of the Butler American, required all his time, consequently his resignation.

OUR Democratic cotemporary is still much agitated over the unanimity and harmony of the Republicans, where it had hoped for dissatisfaction and a disposition to bolt the tickets nominated. Keep cool, neighbor, this is only the beginning of the end.

IN any view of the situation in which Mr. George O. Evans, the alleged State defaulter, finds himself, we think it unwise that he should secrete himself in New York in order to avoid arrest. In that phase of the case he certainly appears to great disadvantage.

WHY does the Post continue the name of Alfred Kerr, Esq., as a candidate on the Democratic ticket for the office of Assistant District Attorney, after it has repeatedly been requested to withdraw it? Is the party so hard run for a lawyer candidate, as to use the name of a highly respected gentleman against his will? It appears so, at least.

OUR respected correspondent in Japan, announces that the first Americans to welcome him to the "land of flowers and sunshine," were our ever faithful missionaries. They watch the arrival of each steamer, and stand ready to act as guides to our people, as they touch the shores of this far off, and to us comparatively unknown land.

WASHBURNE AND DOOLITTLE, the opposing candidates for the Governorship of Wisconsin are about taking the stump together. Although Doolittle is much the better speaker, we predict that however much he may do, or whatever he may do, he will be done thoroughly brown, by the time Washburne is through with him. The people of Wisconsin have been served for about eighteen years by this representative of the famous Washburne family, and they have full faith in him. Doolittle has turned his coat twice in that time.

IF THE EDITOR of the Guerilla would lend his assistance in the organization of the Republican party, and thereby in ome measure prove that his heart is with the party, instead of spending his time in writing squibs, and finding fault with those who are using their best efforts, and spending their time in endeavoring to organize, and open the campaign, he would probably, then be listened to and advised with, as other Republicans are. Until he shows some such disposition, and less of the fault finder, his squibs and remarks are out of order.

THE new King of Spain, Amadeus, is making a tour of his dominions. The people everywhere appear to give him a hearty welcome. He is said to be granting many pardons, as he passes along, and is quite fond of witnessing bull-fights. He is thus gaining the affections of his subjects by sympathizing in their troubles, and engaging in their favorite pastime. "When you are in Greece you must do as Grecians do," and although Amadeus may not find much special pleasure in a bull fight, yet Spaniards do, and of course he wishes to prove himself a good Spanish King, therefore he must enjoy a bull-fight.

QUEEN VICTORIA continues too ill to attend divine service and her condition is causing considerable alarm throughout Great Britain. The possibility of her death, causes uneasiness, and sets the people thinking on the results which may follow. The growing feeling of disquiet, and disgust at the titled aristocracy, by the working classes, portends that much trouble may ensue before the crown shall be placed on anothers brow. So long as Victoria shall live and reign, comparative quiet, and order will remain, as the people respect her virtues and her position. But another feeling may exhibit itself, which has lain almost dormant, in the event of the coronation of the profligate prince.

THE NEW YORK World, ridicules the immense mass meeting of citizens held recently in that city, to adopt measures to arrest the extravagance and corruption of the Tammany Ring. It says "numbers mean nothing," although it admits that in point of numbers the meeting was a success. It claims that if Mayor Oakey Hall wished to call a meeting of "the people" to endorse his actions, five times the number assembled at this meeting might be collected. This is probably not far from the truth, and the World might have added, and not one in ten of them would be able to read. No doubt so thorough is the hold of Mayor Hall upon the scum of New York society, that many thousands of them, influenced by one thing and another, could be collected for almost any purpose. But such a meeting would hardly compare favorably with the one mentioned as having been attended by such men as Judge Pierrepont, General John A. Dix, Marshall O. Roberts, Judge Noah Davis, Wm. M. Evarts, Moses H. Grinnell and Henry Clews. These men represent the intelligence, the brain, the wealth and the greatness of the Commercial Metropolis, and their influence cannot be overborne by ten thousand of Mayor Hall's friends—the howling, debased roughs of New York. Numbers alone, possibly do not mean everything; but numbers, with character, such as were present at the meeting of tax-payers mean the downfall of Tammany, at least in the estimation of all intelligent people; and it is greatly to be deplored, if, in spite of that, sufficient votes of the unintelligent, the unthinking and the base can be obtained to keep the villains in power. Democracy glories in the strength of its ignorance.

THE trouble in the Hancock public school arising out of the failure of Catholic parents to send their children to it, is but consistent with the course of the clergy of that denomination in steadily refusing to recognize any school that is not sectarian. The district contains a large Catholic element. The directors, with one exception, are all Catholics, and the majority of the teachers elected to preside over the class rooms are believers in the same faith. So organized objection could be more justly raised and maintained by the Protestant parents living in the district, but the Very Rev. Father Hickey holds that it would be inconsistent and at variance with the ideas of the Church he represents to accept even such a school with such advantages. That Catholic teachers have no more right than those of other religious denominations under the present system of popular education to teach the doctrines of their faith. Such a course would be highly unjust, and should not be tolerated, and no Catholic clergyman could lend it his [illegible]nction. No order has been made es[illegible] against the Hancock school, but peciall[illegible]ne has been issued against a general [illegible]nding their children to Catholic parents [illegible]utside of those in any school or college [illegible] authorities. the control of the church [illegible]ing so The discipline of that church [illegible]al, rigid and the obedience so univer[illegible] the order is very generally complied with, and as a result but very few Catholic children enjoy the benefits of the public schools at the present time. The fact is to be regretted; but so long as the Catholic element of the population is so obedient to the voice and command of their pastors, the situation cannot be improved. In refusing to permit the children of their flocks to enter a school controlled by Catholic directors, and supplied with teachers of the same faith, the priests only prove consistent in their opposition to the free school laws, although few will recognize the wisdom of that course, which deprives thousands of children from availing themselves of the superior advantages afforded for education in the public schools.

IN THE utter impotence of their rage, and the poverty of their demands, Democracy, now and then return to the discussion of the San Domingo question, and attempt to impress their people with the belief that by some means or another, President Grant is still bent, on what they charge is his purpose, of forcing this island upon us, whether Congress shall favor such policy or not. Just as if the whole matter were not long ago set at rest by the President himself, in his last message to Congress on the subject, wherein he announced his work finished, and his duty done, in asking attention to the demands of the people of San Domingo for annexation. The report of the committee sent to the island for the purposes of investigation, is now in the hands of the proper committee, with all the facts bearing on the case that it was possible to procure. No political importance attaches to the question, that we can see, and it resolves itself simply into one of utility or practicability. We cannot see that the United States would be, politically, any better, or any worse off by attaching such property to their domain, neither can we discern any great addition to the voting population thereby. Should San Domingo ever be annexed to the United States, we doubt not it would soon thereafter become peopled with our citizens, and not many years would ensue until agricultural and commercial intercourse would succeed in establishing a homogeneous population, as was the case with Texas, New Mexico and California. But in any case we do not see what the question has to do with the discussion of politics. It is surely not a party question, as some of the foremost members of both parties oppose it, and others equally influential favor it. It is a business, a practical question, and we hope and believe its solution, after mature and careful deliberation will be reached, without regard to the political opinions of those who favor or oppose the idea. At any rate the matter is now in the hands of Congress, and the President has announced that upon them the whole responsibility for their decision must rest. His duty was fully done in laying the matter before them.

THE VIGILANCE COMMITTEES.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE:—The communication (?) signed "Bull Run" in this morning's Commercial evidently originated with some sore head, probably the Editor of that sheet himself. After carefully looking over the lists as published, I am bound to say that the pickets have been judiciously selected. The camp followers, deserters and old men alluded to by the Commercial, are not to be found, unless the "reformers" of last year, whom the Committee have generously assigned places on the lists, are to be described as such. After all is it not well-known that it is a task few could satisfactorily fill, the appointment of Committees of Vigilance, as some mistakes must necessarily follow. Query, how comes it that this correspondent (?) of the Commercial knew who were appointed for the boroughs and townships, when the lists for those districts were not published until to-day. None but the Committee and the newspaper men had seen them until to-day, and no outsiders could know who were on them. The conclusion is irresistibly forced upon us, that the aforesaid communication (?) must have originated in the office of the Commercial. Perhaps the matter might be remedied by appointing its Editor on the Vigilance Committee for which I would nominate him.

A Prophecy of Mr. Carlyle.

A writer of the Opinion Nationale mentions that after 1848, M. Emile Montegat, a well known translator and author, wrote to Mr. Thomas Carlyle, a translation of whose French Revolution he had undertaken to make, for advice as to his conduct in political life, which M. Montegat had just entered. Mr. Carlyle, the writer goes on to say, replied in the sense of the following words: "The men whom the Revolution has placed at the head of affairs in your country have scarcely the political skill needed for so difficult a situation. The Republic is not yet established in men's minds, especially not in the rural districts; and I doubt if the present Government will be able to maintain itself. There is now here, in London, a man of whom no one in your land thinks, and who will, nevertheless, infallibly attain to power ere long; I refer to Prince Louis Bonaparte. If the men of February succeed in surrounding him, and in forcing him to advance at the head of the Republican party, the Republic will endure; else she will inevitably sink, and you will have the Empire." These prophetic lines were penned in March, 1848.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The "new departure" of Dr. Thrall, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, New York city, is an open declaration of hostility to the authorities of the Episcopal Church, and indicates the spirit of unrest which a number of Episcopal ministers have manifested for some time. A new prayer book has been prepared by certain divines, and was formally adopted by Dr. Thrall Sunday week. He announced at the commencement of the first service the book was used, that he had received a unanimous request from his vestry to conduct the services hereafter according to the Union Prayer Book. Having sent his resignation to Bishop Potter as a Presbyter of the diocese, he felt free to use the new Ritual as desired. Dr. Thrall's course was endorsed by other clergymen, who took part in the exercises. This indicates that the question of dissent has assumed grave considerations, and the coming General Convention will be fraught with interest.

We notice in this connection, that the differences between the High and Low Church adherents have reached a point, which the General Convention cannot well avoid considering to avoid a rupture. Three memorials will be brought before the Convention. The first relates to the officiating of persons not ministers of the Episcopal Church. The second is for the repeal of the canon requiring the use of the Prayer Book before all sermons and lectures. The third is the "Muhlenberg Memorial," which is to this effect: That any minister in the use of the Prayer Book may omit any passage seeming to him to contain doctrine contradicted or un supported by Scripture.

A correspondent of the Christian Intelligencer criticised the hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," in severe language, pronouncing the hymn as both heretical and unpoetical, because the claims of Christ are not sufficiently recognized, and some of the lines are defective in measure. In the last issue of that paper three correspondents reply to the strictures, and give an analysis the hymn, taking the ground that it contains allusion to the cross in a way that no exceptions could be taken by the most orthodox. The objections to the construction of some lines shows a fastidious taste, and are not deemed worthy enough to condemn the hymn.

The Universalist Convention, at its meeting in Syracuse, New York, last week, recommended a female professorship in the St. Lawrence University.

A special meeting of the General Synod of the Reformed (Dutch) Church in America has been called to meet at Brooklyn, N. Y., September 27th, to fill a vacancy in the chair of Didactic and Polemic Theology, in the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick, N. J.

It is thought the Shiloh Baptist Association, composed of colored churches, is the largest Baptist Association in the world. It was organized six years ago, with nine churches, and at the late meeting at Richmond, Virginia, one hundred and eighty-eight churches were reported, containing thirty-nine thousand members. Fifty-eight churches were received this year. Four hundred delegates were present.

It is estimated more than one thousand [illegible]sons walked in procession in Buffalo, on [illegible] Sunday, in honor of the German [illegible] Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Evangelical [illegible] States, which was in session. Ohio and other [illegible]

A colored African Methodist Episcopal church, at Newark, N. J., embracing three hundred members and their pastor, have come over bodily to the Methodist Episcopal Church. The transfer was completed August 29th.

According to statistics furnished at the recent sessions of the Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, within the bounds of the State of Ohio, there are about eight hundred traveling and one thousand local ministers, with a total membership of one hundred and fifty thousand. These figures show great strength in this denomination of active Christians.

At a recent "spiritual" camp meeting of the New Jerusalem Church, held in Walden, Massachusetts, one of the chief speakers remarked that he was losing faith in the system of spiritualism. He hoped the doctrines were true, but he was one of the unfortunate men that had never succeeded in obtaining any testimony from the spirit world.

The contemplated National Council of Congregationalists, to be held at Oberlin, Ohio, November next, is likely to inaugurate some features that may eventually result in a species of Presbyterianism, heretofore discountenanced. No doubt the independent features of the Congregational system will be generally observed, but the tendency of things among that body is toward more system, and the organization with some kind of central authority in certain cases that cannot be will adjusted by local bodies.

It is estimated there are over one hundred Swedes of the Lutheran faith in this city, Allegheny and neighborhood. The Banner says movements are proposed to procure the services of our Swedish Luthern pastors, to hunt them up and preach to them in their own tongue.

Late intelligence from Bishop McIlvaine, of the Episcopal Diocese of Ohio, who was at Geneva, Switzerland, report that he is gradually gaining strength, but not able to do the amount of traveling and walking which he accomplished in his former visit to the Alps.

Dr. T. L. Cuyler, the distinguished Presbyterian minister, of Brooklyn, preached one time at Saratoga, and the next day a baker told him that he pitied him when he first began, as he did not know what a critical audience he had to address. But the baker told him, what he regarded as the best practical hint he ever got, that if a minister can only convince his congregation during the first five minutes that he cares nothing but to save their souls, "he will kill all the critics in the house." The very thing to kill critics, and ministers should make a note of this fact.

A Presbyterian correspondent of the Evangelist, who recently attended Sing Sing Camp-meeting, speaking of the services, says, on the whole, "I can truly say, though a Presbyterian out and out, my heart has been warmed by this incidental mingling with my Methodist brethren, and earnestly recommend all suffering from heart aches to spend at least one day among these earnest workers for Christ."

A missionary of the American Sunday School Union, organized a new school in a mountain neighborbood in Tennessee, where there were four distilleries. Three leading men sharply opposed the school. One said that he would rather have a distillery in one corner of the church, than a Sunday school. And the school was broken up. But the missionary was not to be thwarted. Going back to Robert Raikes' plan, he offered to pay those teachers five dollars, who would help to keep up the school for three months. And he succeeded. Within two miles of that school, he found children fourteen years of age, who did not know that Christ came into the world as a Saviour.

A HARVEST OF SOULS.

Any work that God signally owns and blesses, proves the work to be of him. Those who contribute to carry it forward, are workers together with him. Those who undertake to oppose it, are unhappily found to be fighting against God.

The missionary work of the American Sunday-School Union has received most remarkable proofs of the favour of the Lord during the past year. No work that was not especially blessed of God, could be instrumental in 4,733 hopeful conversions, in one year, as the missionaries of this Society were last year. It is further remarkable that most of those conversions were among who did not enjoy the stated preaching of the Gospel, but whose chief, and perhaps only means of grace, were the study of the Bible in some humble cabin Sunday-school. These conversions are reported from every part of the great field over which the work of the Society extends, as the following statement from the last annual report will abundantly show:

Mr. Trumbull reports 253 conversions, so far as known, in 19 of his new schools. Mr. Stites, 200 conversions, 3 chapels completed, 2 erected, 2 commenced, 2 churches organized. Mr. Baughman, "quite a number of revivals, some confined almost exclusively to the schools." Mr. Crittenden, 61 conversions, 4 churches organized. Mr. Chidlaw, "many converted, a few churches organized." Mr. Potter, 60 conversions. Mr. Densmore, from 300 to 400 conversions, and 23 churches organized in 4½ years. Mr. Badger, 8 churches in 2½ years. Mr. Ensign, 707 conversions and 26 churches organized, as reported, in part, by missionaries of the Northwest. Mr. Paxson, 108 conversions, and doubts not there have been 300. Mr. Hayden, 150, and thinks they have been 300. Mr. McCormick, 130, and estimates 500. Mr. McCorkle, 289. Mr. McCullagh, 400 and 6 churches organized; while seven of his missionaries report 2,271 conversions, and three of them report 11 churches organized; and Mr. Peters says, "Nearly one-fifth of the schools organized by us, on the Pacific Coast, report conversions, churches organized, and church-structures erected—one school enumerating 100 conversions, and three others 25 each."

What an overwhelming testimony that this is God's work! What an eloquent appeal to every christian heart to pray for, and to contribute liberally to a cause so wonderfully marked by refreshings from on high!

Agriculture a Fraud.

[From the Cincinnati Times.]

The basest fraud of earth is agriculture. The deadliest ignis fatuus that ever glittered to beguile, and dazzled to betray, is agriculture. I speak with feeling on this subject, for I've been glittered and beguiled, and dazzled and destroyed by this arch deceiver.

She has made me a thousand promises, and broken every one of them.

She has promised me early potatoes, and the rain has drowned them; late potatoes, and the drought has withered them.

She has promised me summer squashes, and the worms have eaten them; winter squashes, and the bugs have devoured them.

She has promised cherries, and the curculio has stung them, and they contain living things, uncomely to the eye and unsavory to the taste.

She has promised strawberries, and the young chickens have devoured them, and the eye cannot see them.

She has promised tomatoes, and the old hens have encompassed them, and the hands cannot reach them.

No wonder Cain killed his brother. He was a tiller of the ground. The wonder is that he didn't kill his father and then weep because he hadn't a grandfather to kill. No doubt his Early Rose potatoes, for which he had paid Adam $7 a barrel, had been cut down by bugs, from the head waters of the Euphrates. His Pennsylvania wheat had been winter-killed, and wasn't worth cutting. His Norway oats had gone to straw, and would not yield five pecks per acre, and his black Spanish watermellons had been stolen by boys who had pulled up the vines, broken down his patent picket fence and written scurrilous doggerel all over his back gate. No wonder he felt mad when he saw Abel whistling along with his fine French merinoes, worth $8 a head and wool going up every day. No wonder he wanted to kill somebody, and thought he'd practice on Abel.

And Noah's getting drunk was not at all surprising. He had become a husband man. He had thrown away magnificent opportunities. He might have had a monopoly of any profession or business. Had he studied medicine there would not have been another doctor within a thousand miles to call him "Quack;" and every family would have bought a bottle of "Noah's Compound Extract of Gopher Wood and Anti-Deluge Syrup." As a politician, he might have carried his own ward solid, and controlled two-thirds of the delegates in every convention. As a lawyer he would have retained in every case tried at the Ararat Quarters Sessions, or the old Ark High Court of Admiralty. But he threw away all these advantages and took to agriculture. For a long time the ground was so wet he could raise nothing but sweet flag and bulrushes, and these at last became a drug in the market. What wonder that when at last he did get half a peck of grapes that were not stung to death by Japhet's honey bees, he should have made wine and drowned his sorrows in a "flowing bowl."

The fact is agriculture would demoralize a saint. I was almost a saint when I went into it. I'm a demon now. I'm at war with everything. I fight myself out of bed at four o'clock, when my better nature tells me to lie still till seven. I fight myself into the garden to work like a brute, when reason and instinct tell me to stay into the house and enjoy myself like a man. I fight the pigs, the chickens, the moles, the birds, the bugs, the worms—everything in which is the breath of life. I fight the docks, the burdocks, the mullens, the thistles the grapes, the weeds, the roots—the whole vegetable [illegible]ingdom. I fight the heat, the frost, the rain, [illegible] the hail—in short, I fight the universe, [illegible]ore admiration to waste on the [illegible] I have no [illegible] Washington for forgiving [illegible] father of Geor[illegible] of his cherry tree. A cherry tree is only a curculio nursery and [illegible] country knew it. the grandfather of his [illegible] trees, and the I have half a dozen cherry [illegible] day my young George Washi[illegible]ton is six years old I'll give him a hatchet and tell him to down with every cherry tree on the place.

Chivalric Spain.

The sullen hostility of the nobility deepened on the arrival of Queen Donna Maria Victoria at Madrid. While even the rabble remembered the respect it owed to the woman, if not to the Queen, and saluted her kindly, though without manifesting enthusiasm, the nobles fairly exhausted their ingenuity in devising modes of manifesting their spite and ill-breeding. When the Queen drove past the Veloz Club, its members stepped out on the balcony and pressed their hats over their heads as low as the chin. The principal palaces, the Medina Celi, the Vista Hermona, the Sexto, the Xipra, the Retortillo, and others of mediaeval fame, were not only undecorated, but locked up when she entered the capital. Open warfare was inaugurated by the female wing of the grandeza against this foreigner, this upstart. The most bitter and unrelenting among the Queen's persecutors were the Duchess of Medina-Celi and the Duchess of Cexto, the latter a Russian by birth, who had become a French patriot as Duchesse de Morny, and had blossomed out into a full blooded Spaniard. To exhibit their hatred of the extrangerismo in the most public and offensive manner became the whole study of these women. On the Fuente Castellana, the fashionable drive, they appeared dressed in the Bourbon fashion—white mantillas, lillies and gigantic combs a la Isabel. When the royal pair for the first time visited the Fuente Castellana, the Governor of Madrid wished the nobility to comply with an old custom by lining the drive with their carriages on both sides, so that the carriage of their Majesties might pass up and down alone in the centre. But no sooner had the royal equipage reached the centre of the drive than all the carriages of the nobility left the place. The next day this insult was repeated, and with the aggravation that the servants were clad in deep mourning. But the rage and indignation of the nobles culminated when the Queen, in defiance of the traditional etiquette of the Spanish Court, ventured to show herself on the Prado, unattended even by a maid of honor. Since that fatal hour they have brooded over the dark scheme to emigrate in a body to Seville, and shake the dust of a desecrated capital entirely from their aristocratic feet. Such, at least, is the threat gravely held out by the organ of the nobility, the Lily Flower, and the Corlistic Margarita.

Poland.

A meeting of Poles has taken place at Lemberg. There were about one thousand visitors altogether, mostly from Cracow and Western Galicia. From Silesia and Posen the number of guests was very small, so that the effect of the meeting was not so remarkable as had been expected by its promoters. The idea of the meeting was started two years ago; its object was to show that the Poles in all parts of the ancient Poland of 1772 are united in the national feeling and aim. Hitherto the unwillingness of the Poles in Posen to join in such a demonstration has prevented its taking place; and even now the number of the Posen visitors was not more than fifty, among whom there was not one of the Polish deputies to the German Parliament. Notwithstanding this, the committee which had arranged the meeting endeavored to give it the character of a fraternization. One of the most interesting features of the festival was the procession to a mound raised to commemorate the union of Poland, Lithuania and Routhenia, which had been projected by Dr. Smolka, in imitation of the famous Kosciusko mound at Cracow. Each member of the procession brought with him some earth from spots renowned in Polish history, and placed it on the mound. Even from Siberia earth was brought to the mound by Poles who had been exiled there. The authorities did not interfere with the festival, as it had no special political character, and every care was taken by its promoters to avoid taking any steps which might cause difficulties with foreign powers. Count Galuchowski, the Governor, was invited to the banquet, but he was not present, and the troops were forbidden to take any part in the procession to the mound.

The Muscular Strength of Insects.

The strength of an insect can be finely illustrated by a feat that was once performed by a beetle—oryctes maimon—a variety that is quite common in the United States. The beetle, for want of any box at hand, was put beneath a quart bottle full of milk upon a table, the hollow at the bottom allowing him room to stand upright. Presently, to the surprise of all in the room, the bottle began slowly to move and glide along the smooth table, propelled by the muscular power of the imprisoned insect, and continued for some time to perambulate the surface. The weight of the bottle and its contents could not have been less than three pounds and a half, while that of the beetle was about half an ounce, so that it readily moved a weight one hundred and twelve times exceeding its own. A better notion than figures can convey will be obtained of this feat by supposing a lad of fifteen to be imprisoned under the great bell of St. Paul's, which weighs 12,000 pounds, and to move it to and fro upon a smooth pavement by pushing it within against the side.

We have another instance of insect-power that is quite as remarkable as the one just related. A small kind of scarabus, an elegantly-formed ground beetle, weighing three and a half grains, was once fastened by a silk thread to a piece of paper, a weight having been previously laid upon the latter. At a distance of ten inches from its load, the insect was able to drag after it, upon an inclined plane of twenty-five degrees, very nearly eighty-five grains, but when placed on a plane of five degrees inclination, it drew after it one hundred and twenty-five grains, exclusive of the friction to be overcome in moving its load.

CURES FOR DEAFNESS.

Let any one examine into the causes of deafness and he will find that nine out of ten of every one of them could have been cured in the beginning: after that, of course, when many of the parts are impaired there is very little hope of cure. Not that it is impossible, for cases can be greatly ameliorated, and even cures performed after apparent structural injury, but it is more difficult and not much to be looked for; but whilst we say this, it ought to be an additional reason for attending to the earlier symptoms of aural diseases, the tingling sensations and dullness of hearing, the tidal sounds and the sounds like a teakettle, as well as the whizzing sounds, and that like grasshoppers, which are heard by many persons, are often only premonitory symptoms of approaching deafness. Every one of these can be cured as easily as any other disease.

Dr. Keyser, at his office for chronic diseases, No. 167 Liberty street, has perfected some remarkable cures by that attention and skill by which he treats every chronic disease. Office hours from 10 A. M. until 1 P. M., and from 3 to 6 P. M.

STILL ONWARD AND UPWARD.

The extraordinary increase that has taken place in the sale of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters during the past year, is another proof that an intelligent people, although they may try all things, hold fast only to that which is good. No amount of puffery can lift inferior articles to the position of standard specifics. To use the words of Tom Paine, they may go up like a rocket, but are sure to come down ignominiously like its extinguished stick. Hundreds of such nostrums have gone up and come down since the introduction of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, nearly the fifth of a century ago. Yet it still remains the supreme tonic of the age. It has not, and never has had a rival in efficacy or popularity, and now stands at the head of all proprietary remedies manufactured on this side of the Atlantic. In every civilized community on this continent or in South America, it is the accepted remedy for dyspepsia, bilious complaints, constipation, general debility, nervous weakness, and many other unpleasant and dangerous maladies. A medicine so widely extended is of course pirated and imitated by dealers without conscience or integrity.

Therefore, let every man and woman who designs to purchase the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, see to it that they have what they pay for, and not the results of an infamous imposture. Look carefully at label, stamp, and name blown in the glass, and do not forget that the true bitters is sold in bottles only.

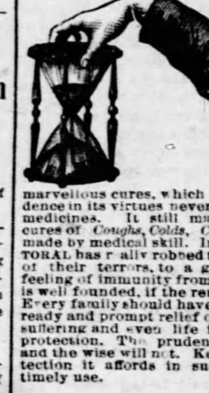
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT AND LUNGS, SUCH AS COUGHS, COLDS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA AND CONSUMPTION.


The few composition which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

DEAFNESS
Positively Cured.
Below Dr. Sprecher makes public only a few prominent and diverse cases of Deafness cured by him. All the columns of this valuable journal would not give space enough for even a brief mention of the cases of Diseased Ears cured by us during our stay in Pittsburgh.
Remarkable Cure of Deafness.
On the 25th day of March, 1871, there came to our office Mr. ROBERT KING, Collector of Water Taxes. He said he had suffered for many years from deprivation of the power of hearing, and had in the last year become so thoroughly deaf that he could not attend to his business All the various tests given in the office only proved that his case was certainly one of great severity. An examination of the ears, however, proved them to be in a condition to encourage us at least in the application of Electricity. The drums of the ears were in an apparently healthy condition, and from all the symptoms we decided that the case was one of Nervous Deafness.
After having Mr. King under treatment for a couple of weeks he was thoroughly restored, could hear the clock in the operating room and many other sounds which he could not hear on commencing the treatment. In short, he is now thoroughly cured, and has been for over three months. Any one skeptical upon these points can consult Mr. ROBERT KING, 248 Bedford avenue.
Next we would call attention to the following cure of Deafness:
LOOK AT THE SIGNATURE.
PITTSBURGH, PA., July 10, 1871.
I hereby affirm that in October, 1870, I called upon Dr. Sprecher with an exceedingly annoying case of Deafness, caused by a case of Chronic Otorrhea. Had previously been under the care of some of the most prominent medical men here and elsewhere, but to no avail. In a few weeks treatment Dr. Sprecher cured me entirely, all discharges from the ear having ceased and all deafness being removed. I hear as well now, almost ten months after the cure, as I ever remember to have heard. I think my case is certainly permanent, as there has been no retrogression whatever.
Most respectfully yours,
THOMAS CARNAHAN.
160 Fourth avenue.
N. B.—The above young man is a member of the Junior Class, Western University, and a son of Hon. Robert B. Carnahan, Esq., of our city.
Cure of Deafness of Long Standing.
From a feeling of gratitude to the healer, and of interest in suffering humanity I hereby affirm that I have been cured of Deafness of over five years' standing. I had tried every known remedy as administered by the first and best physicians, but without avail. A short course of electrical treatment under Dr. Sprecher's supervision has fully restored me. I do most cheerfully recommend electricity as a curative agent.
JOHN CEANEY,
86 Webster avenue, Pittsburgh.
Electricity, by its touch and tone, not only cured the most hopeless case of Deafness, but has cured and is now curing in the hands of Dr. Sprecher some of the most unfortunate—so called—cases of Blindness.
Below, we present a single case, which is only a representative of a large number of such certificates in our possession.
All diseases of the eye are alike amenable to the curative influence of Electricity in skillful hands.
Blindness of 12 Years Cured.
This is to certify that G. A. Sprecher, Electropathist, at 257 Penn street, has cured me of blindness of in all about twelve years' standing When I came to the doctor I was miserable in every respect; could eat scarcely anything, sleep but little, and worse than all, could not see. I am restored by the agency of electricity to the blessings of health, and have my sight perfectly. I thank God that I was directed to this healer.
MISS MARY McKOWN,
Moorehead Postoffice, Allegheny county, Pa.
We would invite all the skeptical to write to Miss McKown and be satisfied.
All the afflicted may call upon us, and if the case is curable we will undertake it, and if not, so we pride ourselves, and think our friends will bear us out in it, that we have the honor to refuse the case.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 8, 1871.

Penna. Railroad stock continues to advance; 62½ on Tuesday 63 on Wednesday closing at 63¾, with sales in Philadelphia of some 5,400 shares, an advance of one dollar per share. In the same market, Reading sold at 58¾; Phila. & Erie at 28¾; Northern Central, 41¾; Catawissa, preferred, 50 Allegheny County 5s, 71¾.

—The New York Tribune has the following regarding gold: A large amount of gold is required for regular daily commercial transactions, and this demand is constantly increasing. In the first place, the importer must pay gold or its equivalent for the goods which he purchases abroad, and then he must pay gold for duties at the Custom House. Again, the practice of selling by the importers to the jobbers for gold is coming more and more into vogue. This is a movement in the right direction, as its tendency is toward a resumption of specie payment, and the re-establishment of business upon a sound basis, when a dollar will have a known and exact value, which it has not so long as gold is used as merchandise instead of currency. The demoralization of the gold market by the cliques seriously interrupts the business of dealing in merchandise on a gold basis. The jobber gives his note to the importer, payable in gold, which the banks receiving gold deposits would like to discount, but are not infrequently deterred from so doing, for the reason that their deposits are liable to be drawn out at any moment for the purpose of affecting the price of gold, or to be lent at one-sixteenth or an eighth per day. So careful banks refuse to discount the best gold note that may be offered, and the merchant needing the coin must submit to any extortion at the hands of the gold cliques or fail to meet his obligations. Shrewd bank officers can calculate with reasonable accuracy how far it is safe to discount upon the strength of their deposits, when they take into the account the usual and ordinary demands of legitimate business; but they can hardly be expected to anticipate all the eccentricities of clique gold gamblers. It is urged, not without reason, that the Secretary of the Treasury, if he think it unwise to sell more gold than heretofore, might, by anticipating the payment of a portion of the 5-2's which he proposes to call in next December, hold the spectators in check, aid legitimate business, and hasten the consummation of what all real well wishers of the country desire, the resumption of specie payments.

—The New York Herald in referring to the fall trade remarks: The first notes of the hum of the fall trade are already echoing in the business portions of the city. A great deal of confidence exists in a heavy line of business during the season now upon us, and there is every reason to believe that it will at least show considerable improvement over that of 1870, for, in the first place, gold has settled to something like an average on which calculations may be based, while the enormous growth of the country has opened up fresh markets in the great plains of the West. On the other hand, it is very probable that buyers will not take heavy stocks. They will not take as light ones as they did last year and last spring. But there is a spirit of conservatism and a fear of expansion which will prevent the bold and large purchases of several years ago. Fashions change so suddenly, and certain styles of goods are so liable to become unpopular, that the merchants are not disposed to lay in heavy assortments, while underneath all is the impression that there is no speculation in buying more than sufficient to meet the current demand, for while prices may not materially change for six months or a year their tendency is rather downward than upward, now that the country is recovering gradually from the inflation of the war.

Gold steady at 113⅜@113⅝. Loans were made at from three sixty-fourths per day to two per cent. per annum for use; two small lots were loaned at 2@3 per cent for carrying. Clearances 561 millions. Governments dull and declined about one-eight, except on currency sixes. Stocks active and excited with frequent fluctuations. The upward course of speculation received a check this afternoon by a remarkable and unaccountable decline of Hannibal and St. Joseph common stock, which suddenly fell from 77 to 71, under the pressure to sell but preferred stock did not sympathize with the decline in common shares, and remained stationary at 87 to 87¾ until the quotations shifted from 82 to 85 without any sales. The decline in Hannibal & St. Joseph common had its influence on the entire list, and for a long time there was a pressure to sell, but towards the close there was a steadier feeling. Northwesterns have been weak all day. The most active business was in Erie, Pacific Mail, Western Union, Hannibal and St. Joseph, Lake Shore and New York Central. A lively contest is expected during the next few days, as the constitutional bears, Drew, Gould and Smith, are in the market, supported by Garland, Travers & Co. R. J. Capron & Co. are the leaders of the bull movement; their good judgment and success for the past thirty days have given them a leading position in the street. Money more active to-day. Loans were mostly made at 3½ per cent. State bonds dull, and about the only business transacted was in new South Carolina and Missouri.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 8, 1871.

ASHES—Common Soda ash, 4@4¼; refined 4¼@4½; Pearls, 9; Pots, 7½; Nitrate Soda, 4½.

BUTTER—Nearly all the produce houses report a good demand for strictly prime butter, and that all under this is very dull; we are reported sales of the former at 20@22, and the supply is not sufficient to meet present requirements.

BROOM CORN—Is reported quiet and unchanged at 4@6 cts.

CIDER—The arrivals are increasing, but the supply, as yet, is not large and prices are still maintained, $6@8 per bbl.

CHEESE—Continues in steady demand and prices are unchanged; 10@10½ for Goshen; 9@9½ for factory, and 8@8½ for dairy.

CARBON OIL—The market is quiet and presents no new features worthy of notice, excepting that prices are weaker, although not quotably lower: 22½@23 cts in a jobbing way, for standard brands.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 30@33c.

COUNTRY BACON—Continues very dull. Country Lard is still quoted at 8@8½.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2,50@3,00 per bbl. Rosendale, $4,30@4.50; Calcined Plaster, $4.25@4.50.

CORN MEAL—Is quoted, in small lots, at 80@85 cts per bushel.

DRIED FRUIT—(New crop)—Peaches, halves, 9 cts; quarters, 7; Apples (Southern,) 5@5½.

EGGS—The market is again stronger, in consequence of an advance in Philadelphia, and we now quote fresh at 24@25—but few sellers below 25. According to private telegrams, they have advanced to 32 at the former place, and at this figure shipments would yield considerably more than 25.

FLOUR—The market is quiet and devoid of a single new characteristic worthy of special notice; the demand is entirely local, while prices are without quotable change. Good spring extras, $6.50@6.60; choice Minnesota baker's flour, $6.90@7.00, and good to choice red winter wheat, $6,50@7.00.

FRUITS—The receipts of Apples were again large to-day, and, as the stock is accumulating, prices are weak and drooping; we reduce our quotations to $2.50@3.50 per bbl. for fair to choice. Plums are becoming scarce and the season is almost over; we can report sales at $8.00@8.50 per stand of two bushels. Peaches, also, in comparatively light supply, but the demand is only moderate and prices are unchanged, $1.50@2.50 per bushel. Grapes continue to come in freely, and, with the market completely glutted, prices are weak and barely maintained, 4@5 cts per lb. This has been a remarkable season for all kinds of fruits.

GRAIN—The receipts of wheat, excepting what is consigned direct to the mills, continue meagre and with a steady demand, prices firm though unchanged, $1.24@1.27 for red; $1.28@1.30 for amber and $1.33@1.35 for white. It would seem that the offerings all over the country are comparatively light just now which is attributed mainly to the fact that farmers generally are busily engaged in seeding, and besides they are indifferent about selling, feeling pretty confident that prices are not likely to go any lower, and that there may be an advance. Oats continue firm and holders generally are holding out for the advance noted in our last report, while buyers as yet, seem unwilling to pay it, and the consequence is we have but very few sales to record; mixed may be quoted at 41@42 and prime white at 44@45, but few sellers below the outside quotations. Corn, notwithstanding it is coming in pretty freely, is if anything a shade firmer in consequence of an improvement in the demand; mixed shelled may be quoted at 61@62 and prime yellow shelled at 63@64. Not much inquiry for Ear Corn. Rye is scarce and in demand and prices have still further advanced; we can report two cars at 78 and 1 car at 80. Barley continues dull; there is considerable offering but buyers for some reason or other are very scarce.

There was a very fair attendance at the exchange to-day but the volume of business was light

2 cars Mixed Corn, 62.
2 cars Yellow Corn, 64.
5 cars Rye, free in elevator, 78.
1 car tight pressed Hay, $25.

GROCERIES—The grocery market continues strong particularly for sugars and coffees, both of which continue somewhat excited, though there has been no further advance in prices. Importers of coffee continue very bullish and allege that, notwithstanding the recent sharp advance, the top has not been reached, and the indications at this writing are that they will be able to force prices up still higher. Sugars continue firm and as noted in our last report, refineds have advanced all around. Molasses, Syrups, Rice, quiet and unchanged. Following are the ruling quotation corrected up to date.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY Sept. 8, 1871.

The stagnation which has characterized the petroleum trade here for several weeks, still prevails, and while hopes of a reaction and a revival in business are still entertained, the prospects at present are not very bright. The season thus far has been favorable for our refiners, but it is owing more to good luck than anything else; they, very fortunately, sold largely ahead early in the season at much better prices than have since prevailed, and in consequence, the most of them have had a fair margin. So far as we can learn, there is but little oil sold beyond this month, and if crude was about 40 or 50 cents per bbl lower or refined about one dollar per bbl higher, our refiners could sell pretty largely for the balance of the year; but under the present condition of the market, however, they can neither buy the one or sell the other, and hence, there is little or nothing doing, as there is nothing in the trade at present to stimulate business.

CRUDE.

Spot quoted at 12—there was a settlement of 400 bbls at this figure; and we can report 1,000 bbls seller all year at 11¾. Parker nominal at $4.60, and Oil City, $4,85.

PITTSBURGH IRON MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, September 8, 1871.

The operations in metal have been fair this week, and the market, although devoid of excitement, is firmer and the offerings, both from the east and west, are comparatively light, though, as yet, there is no quotable advance to note in prices. The demand, although fair, cannot be termed active, as most of the mills bought pretty freely some weeks ago and have stock enough to keep them going for some weeks to come; however, all desirable brands that are offered are picked up, and, that too, at full prices, and, in consequence, there is but little metal going into yard. It is stated, and we have reason to believe it is true, that the majority of the western furnaces are pretty well sold, some of them ahead, so they are not in condition to sell much even if so disposed, and the receipts of eastern iron continue light.

In regard to finished iron there is but little that is new or important; the market is considerably stronger in tone, and notwithstanding, it is early, orders, we understand, are coming in pretty freely and an advance in prices soon is not improbable. It is generally expected that there will be a heavy demand this fall and winter, as the consumption seems to be increasing every year, and it is alleged that stocks all over the country are very much reduced.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, September 8.—The market is quiet and active with the jobbing trade especially, and prices generally are firm, but the strangest thing noticeable is the advance in the price of London mourning, and Simpson & Sons and Gloucester prints, both of the former being advanced to 11c, both in solid black and white mourning styles, and the latter to 10½c; but any sharp buyer can find some old, if not new stock on sale still at ½c per yard below these figures. The cause of the advance is attributable to the upward tendency of print cloths and the rise in the price of raw material abroad and at home. In other staples the advance has not disturbed the values much, and there are but slight changes noticeable. Nevada A brown sheetings are up to 11½c; Appleton N do 10½c; Lancaster 10c; 4-4 sheetings 30c; Nashua do O 12½c; Pepperell 7c; 4-4 do 25c; Pocasset Canoe 13@13½c; Stark A brown drills 13¾c; Easton C tickings 11½c, and Utica 5-4 Nonpariel bleached sheetings 27½c.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily with 24 inches in the channel. Weather clear and cool—a sharp frost was visible yesterday morning, in low places protected from wind.

No arrivals or departures excepting the Monongahela river packets.

Capt. Wm. Coulson, of the E. H. Durfee, was expected to arrive from St. Louis yesterday on a visit to his family.

Our clever friend, Mr. W. W. Ackley, left left yesterday on a pleasure trip to Cincinnati and Louisville. After visiting the Industrial Exposition at Cincinnati, he will proceed to Louisville and make an examination of the Louisville canal improvement; from thence to the "Richmond, Indiana, Fair," and report says that he will bring one of the "fairest" home with him. It would seem that William is determined to follow the example set him by his illustrious cotemporary, Capt. Andy Bunting. Is it not time for McBane to do likewise?

—We clip the following from a late Memphis paper: The movement of freights and merchandise to the people of the Lower Mississippi valley and its tributaries, together with the transportation of the cotton crop from these rivers to market, promises to be a slow and tedious work this fall. The tributaries are all down to a very low stage, and all the country lying west of us is likely to feel the want of convenient modes of transportation before the present season's crop is marketed and groceries and other needful wants supplied. To the eastward extensive railroad facilities have long since abolished the old wagon style of receiving and exporting merchandise, and the population are independent of the caprices of water highways. The limited extent of railroad facilities enjoyed by our neighbors over the river compels them to rely largely on river transportation. Only a few years more and Arkansas, like other older States, will be checkered over like a chess-board from end to end with railways, and they too will be independent of river steamers. That the best days of steamboats in small rivers are over is among the self-convincing ideas which for some time, past have gradually been working their way into the heads of our river men. Like those who once drove ox-wagons a hundred miles to market, with cotton and produce, many mariners will ere long have to be looking ahead for some other business besides navigation. It is rather an unpleasant thing to think about, but it is so nevertheless, and there is no way of getting around it.

—The St. Louis Democrat, referring to the death of Mr. A. C. Isaacs, says: He left this city a few days ago to act as Treasurer of the Vicksburg elevator, and then appeared in his usual health. Mr. Isaac was born in this city, and lived here most of his life, and was about 35 years of age. It is supposed that his death was the result of a congestive chill, having been somewhat subjected to febrile diseases. During his comparatively long career on the river as chief clerk of various steamboats, he was held in the highest esteem by all with whom he became acquainted. His unexpected death, in the prime of manhood, is deeply regretted by his numerous friends. Mr. Isaacs leaves a wife and one child.

—Messrs. Walker and Atkinson, Local Government Inspectors for the Pittsburgh district granted the following licenses and renewals to engineers and pilots during August 1871: Engineers renewals 21; original 1; Wm. Force as 2d class. Pilots, license granted: Wm. Brush; renewals 16; new steamers inspected, Cora Bell, Storm and Park Painter, No. 2 Reinspected 5—Market Boy, Petrolia, N J. Bigley, Fair Play and Nora.

—Patrick Roony, a sub-marine diver, was drowned yesterday at the Water Works, above St. Louis, by his apparatus becoming entangled with some piles and beams under the water, which loosened the top of his armor. He was two hours under water.

HOME NEWS.

Pittsburgh Female College.—The fall term of this excellent institution is now commencing with flattering prospects. Parents having daughters to educate should call and leave them at the College office, where they will be kindly received and assigned to appropriate classes.

The Cluster House Plans.—Plans and elevations for a cheap and very convenient "Cluster House" for four families will be found in the People's Monthly. It is designed and engraved expressly for the Monthly. This feature, to any meditating building, will pay the annual subscription twenty times.

Leg Broken.—On Thursday evening, Walter Stewart, aged five years, son of Alderman Stewart residing on Stewart street Allegheny, climbed upon the scaffolding used in the building of a new house and while playing, fell to the ground, some fifteen feet, breaking his right leg just below the thigh. Medical aid was immediately procured and the little sufferer is now doing well.

Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company.

The Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company of this city has recently purchased a lot of seventy acres on the Delaware, with a river front of five hundred and thirty feet, upon which they contemplate erecting an immense manufacturing establishment. The ground is already connected with the Pennsylvania Railroad by two tracks, by which means they will be enabled to ship their kryolite and other articles to their chemical works in this city. In a few weeks they will commence the construction of still larger establishments, in which they propose to manufacture sulphuric, nitric and muriatic acids, soda, alum, bi-carb soda, caustic soda and soda ash.

Sanitary on the South Side.

The Sanitary Committee of East Birmingham held a meeting last evening in 'Squire Ammon's office. But little business was transacted beyond their resolving to prosecute several parties for maintaining nuisances. They also agreed to urge particularly upon the citizens the necessity of vaccination. In this connection we would desire to call attention to the commendable measure adopted by Messrs. Doyle & Co. and afterwards by Messrs. Atterbury & Co. These two firms are extensive glass manufacturers employing a large number of men and boys, all of whom have been vaccinated at the expense of their employers. It is to be hoped that the noble example thus set will be followed by many.

Dust and Cholera.

A microscropist, Mr. Dancer, F. R. A. S., has been examining the dust of cities. The result is not pleasing. In every specimen animal life was abundant, the most so at the height of five feet; just about the height of the mouth of passengers, and is there ready to be swallowed or inhaled. What has been mysterious in the history of plague and pestilence may receive a partial solution. Take the cholera for example. It has been shown by positive evidence that the disease is not propagated but by actually swallowing the cholera poison. The least particle of this taken into the stomach will cause an attack. A small quantity of this matter drying on the floor may poison a house full of people. Nurses and physicians in a pure atmosphere are not affected, although they may inhale a full breath of a patient in the last stages of the cholera. One of the lessons to be learned from these interesting researches of Mr. Dancer is that the water-cart should be regarded as an important hygienic aid, supplemented by careful scavengering.

Applied for Divorce.

The singular anomaly of a husband applying for divorce from his connubial partner on the ground of ill treatment and abuse, was brought to the attention of the Court of Common Pleas yesterday in a petition presented by Daniel Haggerty, praying for a severance of the "silken tie," by which he at present is held matrimonially to Margaret Haggerty. The petition relates that the ill treatment which he has received from the wife makes his condition as her husband burdensome to him, and in detailing his hymenial experiences tells of sundry instances wherein he was driven from the house by the representative of the "gentler sex" who flourished a huge carving knife whetted for bloody deeds, in uncomfortable proximity to his throat. Other amusements he further alleges were slanderous abuse of him, a wrong disposal of the funds provided to purchase domestic supplies, &c., all of which he avers has made his experience as a Benedict one of great sorrow—so much so, that he has been compelled to absent himself from the domestic hearth for at least two years past. The unfortunate Benedict will be heard further next Saturday, the defendant in the meantime being notified to appear before the court at that time.

"He Never Advertises."

There is a bright picture of the man who does not advertise. He is distinguished very easily by his careworn and dejected countenance. He is grasping—holds fast to what he has, and is afraid to venture. He is generally selfish, and looks upon all customers with distrust. The miserly eagerness with which he clutches the pay for his goods creates an antipathy for him in the mind of his patrons, and they generally leave him. His store is anything but inviting, as the goods are not displayed at all, and a bleak appearance of the walls is the consequence. At night he lights his store with the poorest quality of candles, which shed a pale glimmer over his goods, giving them an old and dusty look. At his store you will be certain to find mean whisky, soft soap, damaged dry goods and groceries—all last year's fashions, etc. He seldom gives anything for public improvements or charitable purposes, and measures mankind generally in his own half bushel. Such a man never helps to build railroads, steamboats, telegraph lines, or anything of the kind. If the balance of mankind were like him, stage coaches would be the only public conveyances. Where great cities now stand, a few double pen log houses and a bar-room would be instead. Colleges and schools would never have been thought of, and blissful ignorance would now reign supreme. He is never posted on the topics of the day, nor is he informed in regard to commercial affairs, because he shuts himself off from that source of information by discountenancing the press, the only means through which it can be attained. And when he dies, he is not generally lamented.

Oh, slow coach in Pittsburgh! "Dost like the picture?"

The Late Drowning Case.

The case of the lad who was drowned in the Monongahela river a few days ago by falling from the steamboat Elizabeth, and the verdict of the Coroner's jury, censuring the officers of the boat, have given rise to much excitement in the community in which the accident occurred. In justice to the officers of the boat, we publish the following explanation, as furnished by one of the officers of the steamboat Elizabeth. It is stated, in behalf of the officers of the boat, that the gate referred to in the proceedings before the Coroner was nailed up on the day before the accident, and the officers were not aware that there was any danger to passengers from that direction:

The gates in the railing were built for the accomodation of passengers getting on and off at the locks. After the gates had been in use for some time, it was found that they were not safe—as constructed—and by order of the officers of the boat, material alterations were made. The gate on one side of the boat was torn away and replaced with an oaken gate. This was provided with extra fastenings, so that children who were disposed to swing upon the same could not open it. The gate at which the accident occurred was closed on the day before the sad occurrence, and the fact it was open at the time of the catastrophe was not known to the officers of the Elizabeth.

While the officers of the boat feel deeply grieved at the sad bereavement sustained by the parents of the unfortunate lad, they cannot remain silent in the face of the verdict rendered by the Coroner's jury in the case. To that verdict they decidedly object for the following reasons:

First. It was based upon ex parte statements. The officers of the boat were not called to testify in the case.

Second—The testimony heard by the jury was not sufficient to warrant them in censuring the officers of the boat, because it did not show that the said officers had any knowledge of the unsafe condition of the gate.

We understand that while the little boy whose death is the subject of these remarks, was playing on the guards of the boat previous to the accident, and that a lady passenger on the boat took charge of him no less than three times, fearing that he was in danger.

It is also stated on good authority that the officers of the boat experienced great annoyance in consequence of children playing on the gates, and that they had taken every precaution to prevent accident by providing extra fastenings for one gate and nailing the other. According to these statements, the officers of the Elizabeth are not deserving of the censure bestowed by the Coroner's jury.

PROBABLE HOMICIDE.

Young Man Stabbed—Escape of the Perpetrator.

A cutting affray occurred last evening at the boarding house of Mrs. Webb, corner of Pike and Thirteenth streets, which will in all probability result fatally to William Wylie, one of the party engaged. It seems that Wylie, who boards at the house of Mrs. Webb, was slightly intoxicated last evening, and manifested a disposition to raise a disturbance with any person who might come in his way. Edward Webb, a son of the lady proprietor of the boarding house, met Wylie, and being unaware of his quarrelsome disposition, asked him to lend him a dollar. Wylie took offense at this request, and in an altercation which ensued he knocked young Webb down. Webb grappled his antagonist, and in the scuffle Wylie was cut in the left side, the blade of a knife penetrating his body to the depth of about two inches. The wounded man was carried into his boarding house, where he was attended by Dr. Young. An examination of the wound disclosed the fact that Wylie is seriously injured, and that it is doubtful if he will recover.

Webb, after committing the deed, escaped, and all the efforts of the police to arrest him were unavailing.

A MOTHER'S DEATH.

Apoplexy From Drinking—A Sad Epitaph.

Yesterday morning Coroner West was called upon to hold an inquest upon the remains of a woman, Catharine Daly, who had been found dead at her home on Colwell street, Eleventh ward. The woman it seems was taken ill suddenly about ten o'clock in the morning when none but her children were present, and before assistance could be obtained, was a corpse. It seems she had been drinking freely for several days past, and had been accustomed to use intoxicating liquors freely. This practice brought on finally an attack of apoplexy, from which she died. Dr. Bratton, who was called in, gave his opinion that such was the cause of her death, and the jury returned a verdict accordingly.

The deceased was but twenty-nine years of age, and the mother of four little girls, the eldest of which is about ten years of age. Her husband is a laboring man and seems to be addicted to the same sad practice which brought about the sudden decease of his wife. The family apparently lived in squalor and misery, and the sight and circumstances attending the case made it one of the most pitiable that the Coroner ever in his dismal rounds has been called upon yet to witness.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS AND WRONGS.

The Female suffragists in Council—Address of Rev. Leonard—Burning Eloquence of Another—Covered Carriages to Convey Convicts to Claremont and the Central Station.

The Woman's Suffrage Association held a meeting, as previously announced, in the hall of the G. A. R., No. 104, Fourth avenue, last evening.

The principal feature of the meeting was the address of Rev. A. B. Leonard, pastor of the Smithfield street M. E. Church. The reverend gentleman appeared to be thoroughly impressed with the belief that the right of suffrage clearly pertained to the weaker as well as the sterner sex. He briefly reviewed each argument of the opponents of the views maintained by him, and denounced them to the evident satisfaction of his hearers. He referred to the admission of ladies to colleges, to theological schools, to medical institutions, and to all they had brought a blessing. But where was a blessing more needed than in our politics, from which they are rigidly excluded. He thought, however, that woman was not prepared for the ballot, until she had been released from the tyranny of Fashion, which occupied her time by day and her dreams by night.

THE BRIGHT SIDE OF IT.

Professor Butler, of Buffalo, was then introduced. The Professor stated that "when, as the Aurora Borealis in its waving scintillations of dusky light sheds refulgence on the murky sky, the chandeliers of education are lighted in the drawing-rooms of mind, flooding with a golden vista of brightness the pillared porticoes of memory, then will the coming millenium of female suffrage and equal wages have dawned."

After a short recess, the business of the Association was transacted. The chair was occupied by Miss Matilda Hindman and Mrs. Helen P. Jenkins acting as Secretary.

JAMBOREE IN OCTOBER.

Miss Jennie Hindman stated that she had received a communication from Miss Lucy Stone, with regard to the holding of a mass meeting in this city during the month of October in the interests of female suffrage, and moved that a committee of seven be appointed, to be divided into sub-committees as a Committee of Arrangements for that meeting. The motion prevailed and the Chair appointed Mr. Proudfoot, Mr. J. Anderson, Miss McQuade, Miss McClurren, Miss Kelly, Mrs. Jenkins and Mr. Burt.

The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. Foster, former Vice President of the Association, asking that funds designed for the great Boston fair for the benefit of suffragists be sent to Mrs. Livermore of Boston. No action was taken on the communication.

With regard to procuring a hall for the permanent use of the Association, it was decided that the one now in use was suitable. The Chair thought that all who were able to go to the polls might be able to ascend to the fourth story of any building in the city. Besides this is an upper room and once before great deeds were performed in an upper room and great principles went forth therefrom. Why not then this great cause be promulgated from this upper room.

CONVEYING THE CRIMINALS,

especially females, who have been convicted of breaking the laws, through the streets, on foot, between burly policemen, followed by a rabble, the prisoners half clad, en route to the workhouse, was pronounced by Mrs. Jenkins, a revolting sight and she therefore moved, for the sake of humanity, decency and delicacy, that a committee of three be appointed to wait on the Mayor and see if suitable conveyances could not be provided for female convicts.

The motion was amended so as to include all convicts, male and female. Passed.

The chair, speaking of the ladies who sneered at this Association, and yet themselves did nothing to remedy this wrong, besought the reporters of the press to go for those women with such vehemence that they would call up on the rocks, &c.

Mr. Proudfoot thought the worst evil of all was dragging drunken women from the place of arrest to the lock-up. He would move that the Committee be instructed also to ask of the Mayor that all persons be conveyed from the place of arrest to the lock-up in carriages.

The Chair assured him that if his motion included both male and female prisoners, such a request would not be granted by the Mayor. He therefore changed his motion to include females only.

Mr. Proudfoot supported his motion vigorously. Said he, "If our city can afford it can afford to have its prisoners cared for in a decent and humane manner.

$10,000 FOR A BALTIMORE BANQUET

The motion prevailed, and the chair appointed as the Committee Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. McKelvy and Mr. Mitchell.

During the discussion of the motion the members of the Association felt justly aggrieved by the remarks of an outsider of many years experience in police circles, who, when granted permission to make a few remarks, had the audacity to state that according to Clerk Patterson's report, of 9,000 arrests last year, about 4,000 were females.

The chair deigned to correct the statement. Not over one in ten, nay, she ventured to assert, not one in twenty of the prisoners arrested in our city are females. This was founded on a conversation with Mayor Brush.

The Association adjourned to meet on the first Friday of October.

THE CORONER'S DUTIES.

Judge Stowe's Definition of Them.

The duties of the Coroner, particularly in reference to the arrest of persons when charged by juries with causing the death of persons, either through carelessness or intentionally, have not generally been fully understood. Coroner West not having himself very clear ideas on the subject, applied to District Attorney Pearson for legal instruction on the point. Mr. Pearson referred him to the opinion of Judge Stowe in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Patrick Williams, charged and convicted of perjury in 1866.

Judge Stowe, in refusing the motion for a new trial, said: "Here it becomes necessary to inquire into the nature of the Coroner's office, and the duties devolving upon him in relation to inquests upon bodies of the dead. The office of Coroner was, in ancient times, of much greater dignity and importance than at present—no one under the degree of Knight was eligible to it. His office and power was, as it is still, both judicial and ministerial—judicial in reference to holding inquests and arresting felons, and ministerial in cases where he acted as a substitute for the Sheriff.

"The subjects of inquiry for the Coroner's inquest are cases of sudden and violent deaths, whether they take place by the visitation of God, by misfortune, as if sudden death ensue in consequence of a fall or other casualty, or by suicide, or by the hand of another, whether by murder, manslaughter, in self-defence, or by accident, and also of all those who die in prison. But he ought not, when a death occurs by visitation of God, as by apoplexy or the like, nor in any case, unless a very doubtful one, unnecessarily obtrude himself into private families for the purpose of instituting inquiry.—Rex. vs. Justices of Kent, 11 East, 229; 2 Burns, 32d ed., 1845.

"It is clearly agreed that the inquest must be taken on the view of the dead body, and an inquest taken otherwise by the Coroner is void; therefore, when the body cannot be found, or is so far decayed that a view can be of no service, no inquest can be taken by the Coroner."—2 Hawk P. C. c. 9, section 23. English Common Law, vol. 18, p. 407.

"The Coroner having in a proper case summoned his jury, proceeds to swear them in view of the dead body, and having duly examined the body, either there or upon adjournment to some other more convenient place, examines into the circumstances of the death. If it appears the party was slain, it is to be inquired, where slain, by whom, and by what means or instrument; whether slain in the place the body lies or not; of what length and breadth are the wounds; in what part of the body inflicted, and generally concerning all the circumstances of the party's death. The inquests are also to inquire of all accessories before the fact, but not of accessories after the fact. If persons who are found guilty by the inquest be taken, the coroner may and must commit them to prison. The inquest must hear all the evidence offered to them on oath, whether against or in favor of the accused; which shall be taken down in writing, and returned with the verdict of the jury to the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

"If the jury find any person guilty, death, it is also their duty to inquire who were present, aiding and abetting; whether the accused fled for it, and also whether he escaped—2 Hawkins' Pleas, 78-9; 2 Hale's Pleas, 65.

Coroners also have power to issue warrants to arrest persons charged with the killing, before the jury have agreed upon their verdict, for often the inquest is long in their inquiry, and the offender might escape if he delay till the jury have finished their duties."

It will be seen that the above opinion clearly defines the duties of the Coroner in such cases to be to issue his warrant and promptly arrest the party or parties guilty of criminal negligence or design.

SOLD AGAIN.

Y. M. J. A. in Search of a Candidate.

For the last three or four days there has been considerable talk in certain circles about organizing a bolt on the Republican city nominees. Communication was held with the Young Men's Jackson Association, who seem to have the right to say who shall be supported for Mayor by the Democracy this coming winter. A meeting of the association was held, a committee appointed to select the man, and he be interviewed as to his acceptance. After pow-wowing for a few hours Thursday evening, the sub-committee concluded to present the name of Joshua Rhodes, who, by-the-way, is a very excellent gentleman, and no doubt would run a large vote. Mr. R. was interviewed, and had about concluded to enter the race, when the thought struck him that he lived in Allegheny. One of the Young Jackson boys said they knew that, but he could come to this side, put up at the St. Charles, and allow his family to remain in Allegheny and await the result. After everything was fixed satisfactory to all parties and the sub-committee were on their way home, feeling good, they met a gentleman of the Association from the Second ward who, like many other citizens of that ward, has given a good deal of time to the official affairs of the city. During the conversation one of the committee couldn't keep his news, it was too good, but must let the gentleman from the Second know what they had done, and what wonderful things they intended to do, when to their astonishment the old politish informed them it required two years' citizenship in the city before a man was eligible for Mayor. The white boys in black were perfectly thunderstruck and swore that was another dodge of Tommy Steel's and Bill Phillips', and they would see about it.

The last seen of the trio, they were hunting Hopkins to get his opinion on the law. Blackmore's friends are very indignant that the boys should go to Allegheny to hunt a man for Mayor, and demand that he shall be supported by the Democracy. The Jackson boys say Blackmore can't beat Morgan; and a new man must be found.

IN MEMORIAM.

Meeting of the Alumni Association of the Pittsburgh Central High School to take Action on the Death of Prof. Philotus Dean.

Last evening there assembled in the College Hall of the Grant Public School House, a number of the members of the Alumni Association of the Pittsburgh Central High School, past and present pupils, teachers and friends of the deceased, to pay tribute to the memory of the late highly esteemed and lamented Professor Philotus Dean, whose death we very recently announced. A committee on resolutions to express the sentiments of the meeting on the sorrowful occasion was then constituted by the chair, as follows: Messrs. T. P. Henderson, John S. Lambie, Clark H. Johnson, Miss Ira Reese and Miss Anna M. Asper. The following were reported and read by the Chairman, Mr. T. P. Henderson, and unanimously accepted and approved.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

WHEREAS, It has been ordained by the Divine, unerring and omnipotent One that Prof. Philotus Dean cease from earthly labors, therefore by this Alumni Association be it Resolved, 1. That in the death of Professor Dean we have lost the beloved gamaliel at whose feet we have sat and learned; the educational interests of Pittsburgh, an able and zealous defender; the Church, "a bright and shining light," and the State, a noble, intelligent and upright citizen.

2. That although we know and feel the loss to us to be deep, yet the family and friends of the deceased feel and know the loss to be deeper; and therefore in this, our common hour of sorrow, may they with us turn for consolation and sympathy to "Him that doeth all things well."

3. That one person from this Association be appointed to deliver an address on the life, character and death of Philotus Dean, at such time and place as may be deemed proper; and that notice of the time and place of the delivery of such address be given to the public by means of the daily press of the city.

4. That these resolutions appear at large on the minutes of this Association; that they be inserted in the daily papers and that a copy be presented to the bereaved family.

In pursuance of the third resolution, on motion of John S. Lambie, Esq., Rev. Joseph A. Montgomery, of the Alumni, was selected as the orator for the occasion.

A MONUMENT PROPOSED.

Mr. Samuel W. Hill offered the following additional resolutions, which met with the hearty endorsement and approval of all present:

Resolved, That if the consent of the family be obtained, this Association erect a monument to the memory of Professor Dean over his remains in Hilldale Cemetery.

Resolved, That the pupils of the High School and all friends of the institute be invited to co-operate with us in this movement.

Resolved, That a committee of one from each class be appointed by the chairman of this meeting with full power to carry the foregoing solution into effect.

Resolved, That the same committee be empowered to obtain an oil portrait of the deceased for a place on the walls of the new High School building.

The chairman will shortly announce such committee in these columns.

The meeting then adjourned.

SHOT BY A ROBBER

A Young Man Fired Upon and Wounded by Thieves.

On Thursday night, Mr. Ellison, who resides at the forks of the Perrysville road heard a noise in his orchard, and as the robbery of fruit orchards has become common in that section of late, he proceeded to investigate the cause of the noise. On his way to the orchard he stumbled over the dead body of a valuable watch dog. When he reached the orchard he discovered three men busily engaged in picking fruit. As he approached the men retreated to the road and then fired at Mr. Ellison. He was considerably alarmed at this unexpected demonstration, and ran into the house and awakened his son. The latter seized a gun and started out for the orchard, and was hunting for the thieves. While standing between two trees he was fired at by the robbers, the shot taking effect in the right side of the head. He started to Allegheny to have the wound dressed and was shortly overtaken by three negroes, one of whom had a rifle and the others were carrying baskets. They asked him what was the matter, and he told them he had been shot. The man who had the gun said they had met three white men going along the road, and had been stopped by them. He said one of the white men had demanded their money, and threatened to shoot them if the demand was not acceded to. He had a gun, however, and when he leveled it the parties allowed them to proceed without further trouble. Mr. Ellison did not credit the story, but during the conversation made himself acquainted with the features of the men so that he will be able to identify them.

Dr. James Herron dressed the wound. He found several small shot in the forehead and a slug in the wound on the side of his head. The robbers are not known and will not without difficulty be apprehended.

Dyspepsia—Indigestion.

The subject of Indigestion has attracted much attention, because it has ever been a difficult and troublesome disease to treat.

It is characterized by a great variety of symptoms, the most prominent of which are, pain after eating, belching, heartburn, waterbrash, fullness of stomach, with tenderness, load of weight in that region, debility, loss of flesh, despondency, headache, bad or capricious appetite, palpitation, cough, nervousness, restlessness, &c., &c.

When the disorder is of long continuance other organs of the body soon become affected, and the lungs, liver, brain, or kidneys, frequently suffer.

In fact, Dyspepsia is the forerunner of a great number of Chronic diseases, such as Consumption, Scrofula, Hemorrhoids, Uterine difficulties, colic pains, paralysis, neuralgia, female derangements, nervous spells, weaknesses, &c., &c.,—and is in its turn the consequence of many of them, and may be complicated with almost every and any disease.

From this it is plain that the treatment of Dyspepsia should be varied according to the extent of the disease and the nature of the complications.

One symptom is more prominent and urgent in one case than another, according to the disease with which it is complicated. And hence remedies seldom have the same effect in any two cases. And all plans of treatment will most generally fail, unless the precise nature and cure of the disease is well and fully understood.

To determine these there is no better criterion than the urinary secretions

Indeed, we are surprised that so little attention has hitherto been paid to that secretion in Dyspepsia, when we know that there is no more certain sign offered.

By this we are enabled to determine whether it be Dyspepsia from liver complaint, kidney affections, nervous disorders, or, in case of females, from uterine affections, derangements or irregularities, or whether these affections proceed from the Dyspepsia:—And to treat the case in accordance with the true conditions, the fixed principles of a fixed science.

There is no guess-work about it. We have cured hundreds and thousands of cases of Dyspepsia by a single course of medicine; others require more, however, according to the disease with which it is complicated.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Yesterday's Criminalities.

Mary Ann Scott was before the Mayor on a charge of vagrancy, and was sent for six months to the Workhouse.

Before Alderman Miller, of Allegheny, Jane Brigger charged Rebecca Gregg with disorderly conduct. A warrant was issued.

John Nolan charged Thomas Connolly, before Alderman Taylor, with assault and battery. He alleges that Connolly struck and kicked him. A warrant was issued Hearings were had before Alderman Strain in the cross-suits between Charles Smith and Samuel McCreary, the former charging the latter with simple assault and battery, and McCreary in turn charging Smith with felonious assault and battery. The result of the hearings was the holding of both cases for trial—Smith in $500 and McCreary in $300 bail.

The four females, Catharine Fane, Melinda Lucas, Rachel Brown and Jennie Harris, jail inmates, who were ordered by the court to serve out the remainder of their sentence at the Workhouse, went to their new abode yesterday.

Alderman Strain had before him Catharine Garrity, charged with disorderly conduct by Mary Brady. Hearing to-day.

Joseph Stewart who is confined in the Allegheny lock-up, had a caller last evening in the person of Mrs. Miller, a friend of his, who passed into his cell two or three bottles filled with whisky. After that she became disorderly and was herself locked up. Soon one Alexander Swords came in and after going through proceedings exactly similar he too was placed in durance.

Mary Sutler came before Alderman Bowden of Allegheny and charged her husband, John with surety of the peace, alleging that he had threatened to kill her. Warrant issued.

A. P. Billings, charged before Alderman G. M. Irwin, of Allegheny, with fraud, was, in default of bail, held for Court by that magistrate.

RURAL NOTES.

IRWIN BORO' September 8, 1871.

Improvements in this town have progressed much this summer. Some new houses have been built that are creditable to the place. Of these might be mentioned the parsonage of the German Reformed Church, the residence of Rev. D. L. Dickey, and the new Presbyterian Church. The latter in style of architecture and building is a good example for rural congregations to imitate. Although yet unfinished the prospect is that nobody will have occasion to "mock" at it saying "These men began to build and were not able to finish."

Quite a panic was lately created here by the appearance of scarlet fever. One case was fatal, and yesterday a child died of cholera infantum. The epidemic is not increasing. There have been two or three cases of small pox at Larimer Station.

The farmers around this place are now busy with the fall crops. Plows and grain drills are to be seen in operation on very farm. And the corn is ripening fast. NESTOR.

James B. Dodges' New Book Store, No. 89 Fifth Avenue.

At No. 89 Fifth avenue, fifth door above Smithfield street, Mr. James B. Dodge the well known general bookseller and stationary dealer has just opened a very fine assortment in his line of trade which will prove attractive to his patrons and the public. In his old quarters Mr. Dodge was too much hemmed in to transact the large share of trade directed towards him since his entry into business on his own account, and a change of base was rendered necessary in order to meet the requirements of the Fall business now setting in. His new store is a perfect parlor of literature. It is very neatly fitted and furnished and in every respect now takes rank second to no other first class book and stationery store in the city. His stock is all new and fresh. It embraces everything in the way of the works of standard and current literary authors, besides a full line of all the leading law books and publications. The latter branch of the book business he makes a leading speciality and our legal friends, into whose immediate localities he has established himself, can find any work their profession may demand, and if not on sight Mr. Dodge can order it at once, having secured most favorable relationship for that purpose with the law publishers of the country. All the adopted and favorite school books in use at public and private schools and colleges will be found on his shelves. He devotes special attention to the manufacture of blank books for counting house and other purposes, while his stock of the latest and most approved legal blanks of all descriptions is always complete. The ladies will always find at this parlor book store, gift books, pens, fashionable stationery, etc., which cannot fail to please them. Mr. Dodge's motto since entering into business has consistently been to sell at reasonable prices, hoping thereby, and he has not been mistaken, to build up a large trade on the system of fair profits. We earnestly urge our readers in want of anything in his line to call and look through his stock. If he cannot supply their wants few other stores west of the mountains can. He is a fair dealing, honorable young merchant, and well deserves the success that has thus far attended his exertions to build up a first-class store in every way worthy of public patronage.

THE most touching and beautiful poetic monody in memoriam of the late lamented John H. Page, contributed by his revered brother, Dr. D. C. Page, which we published some days since, was so much admired and copies sought for which we could not supply, the edition having been quickly exhausted, that we reproduce the gem in response to the general wish.

OF
John Harding Page.
BY THE REV. D. C. PAGE, D D.

O preclarum diem! cum mortale hoc induerit immortalitatem et fiet sermo, qui scriptus est; "absorpta est mors in victoria;" ubi est mors timulus tuuo, ubi est sepulchrum victoria tua.

Brother, farewell! or should I not say rather Good-bye for now?
For thou hast only gone before us, as travelers that set out
At different hours on the same journey, o'er tempestuous seas,
To meet again in some fair region where
Are softer airs, serener skies, and a ne'er setting sun.
Sweet Brother, rest. I've dropt upon thy grave
Some natural tears, but wiped them soon;
For why should I lament that thou now walkest in white?
Thy tears are dried,
Thy brow encircled with a radiant crown
Of uncreated glory, and thine eye entranced
With the celestial vision.
No! I mourn thee not; but ne'er will I forget thee.
While memory holds its seat I'll think of thee
As when in our earlier years we sat around
Our honored father's board and listened to his words
Of truth and reverence, and love and gentleness.
Oh! is it strange that thou so lovely wert
With such a pattern?
Or, to come down to later years I see thee now,
As I so often saw thee, or in the trellissed porch
That hides the noon-tide beam,
Or by the fireside bright, surrounded
By thy loved children, grand-children, and above all, by her
Who made the light and gladness of thy dwelling.
And I will ever think of what thou wast to me:
Thy courteous bearing,
Thy sweet and gentle manners, thy words of kindness and of cheer.
And the fond beatings of thy most true and loving heart.
Peace to thine ashes! may the winds of heaven
Pass lightly o'er thy grave, and the soft showers
Fall gently on the hallowed spot where thou reposest,
But to make it greener and brighter.
Thou hast left us to struggle on as best we may;
But we will follow, though with unequal steps, the path
That led thee to the celestial light, "faint but pursuing;"
Yet still with meek, unfaltering trust that we shall join thee
In the rapt song of blessed saints and angels,
To part no more throughout the eternal ages.
